EC. STIMSON URGES PUBLIC TO KEEP COOL

Chief of War Department Warns Against Current Nazi Propaganda on Coming Invasion

DESIGNED TO CONFUSE

Washington, May 18.—(P)—Secretary of War Stimson warned a public today that current Nazi propaganda on the forthcoming invasion of Europe is designed to confuse the Allied peoples in the hope of impeding military operations.

In a statement read at his press conference, the secretary called attention particularly to the setting of invasion dates by the enemy, so that when the dates passed without action the enemy would claim the Allies did not dare attempt the invasion.

"The day will come, but it will be the one which the Nazis have selected," he added, asking at the public "remain cool and patient during this trying period waiting for D-Day."

Concluding the text of the statement, he said:

"It is well to bear in mind that the enemy propagandists distribute their materials to different targets and for different purposes. Through wireless transmissions, through wave broadcasts, and through newspapers in occupied countries, they seek to make an impression on the people of the United States. Through their news series they tell a different story to the people of the occupied countries, and they may tell still a different story to their people at home. What they tell us, though may be disguised to look like news, has a single purpose—to confuse."

Congressmen Are Irked By Airport Order

Washington, May 18.—(P)—Members of congress from 17 states, aroused over an army order halting construction of airports in their states, organized a committee today to take immediate steps toward resumption of work.

The committee was directed to find out why the army called off construction after once certifying projects as essential to the war effort. The group was authorized to appeal directly to the president, if necessary.

Charles B. Donaldson, director of airports for the Civil Aeronautics Administration, told the group that army officials apparently had interpreted a presidential request for a resurvey of the projects as meaning that they would all be deferred.

He referred to a letter of March to the Secretary of Commerce signed by President Roosevelt.

DANVILLE FUGITIVE MAY HAVE DROWNED

Danville, May 18.—(P)—Robert Schler, 19, was back in Danville Hospital today and police are attempting to learn if George Brewster, 26, who escaped with Schler from the hospital yesterday morning, had drowned or was still at large.

Schler, who was captured last night when he stopped at a house ask for a drink of water, told police that Brewster had jumped to the Susquehanna river when they were trying to evade hospital guards, and drowned. Schler was committed to the institution from Salisbury and Brewster had been transferred there from Huntingdon hospital.

On North Italian Front Gallant Polish Corps Fights Through Terrifying Terrain to Take Anchor of Hitler and Gustav Lines

FRENCH REACH STRONGPOINTS IN CENTER AREA

By RICHARD McMURRAY
Associated Press War Editor

Cassino and Formia, two German strongpoints in central Italy were captured today by Allied troops who were storming steadily ahead toward Rome on a violently erupting 25-mile front.

British troops captured Cassino, where the Nazis had repulsed Allied attacks for five months. They had virtually encircled the city in conjunction with a Polish corps which stormed Hill 593, northern anchor of the Adolf Hitler and the Gustav line. The British had cut the Via Casilina two miles beyond the city on the way to Rome.

Formia, southern anchor of the Hitler line, fell to American troops in a five mile advance. Both Cassino and Formia are 72 air-line miles from Rome and around 40 miles from the southern edge of the Anzio beachhead, where the enemy said Allied troops were attacking. Cruisers pumped 3,000 shells into the Formia area before the Doughboys stormed in.

The old Benedictine Monastery on a mountain towering above Cassino was captured by the Poles, but it was only a ruin. The Germans had turned it into a fortress.

A substantial part of the first German parachute division, the considerable victory, Allied headquarters in Naples announced.

"The Gustav line has now ceased to exist," the communique said.

With air power to spare, U. S. heavy bombers ranged across the Adriatic from Italy and bombed Ploesti in Romania and Belgrade and Nis in Yugoslavia. All are rail centers; Ploesti is the center of Romanian oil refining.

French in the center captured Esperia—a strongpoint of the Hitler defenses which were reached at many points. The mountain fastness is 70 miles from Rome and 48 from the Anzio beachhead.

Another 1,500 Nazis surrendered making the total 4,500. The Anzio beachhead was quiet but the Germans said Allied artillery was intense.

The Naples communique did not confirm the capture of Cassino, but made plain that the green devils of the first German parachute division were in a hopeless situation, if indeed they had not scurried out before the jaws of the Hitler-Polish trap slammed shut. Headquarters said some resistance still was being encountered in the area.

Overhead, 2,500 planes sortied against the foe pouring a hellish curtain of bombs and bullets and fire into his battle positions. Four ports were bombed in operations costing 15 planes.

The Allied offensive in Italy was gathering momentum and speed, and the Germans started talking of the superior positions north of Rome. They even denied the Gustav and Hitler lines existed.

The fall of Cassino would open the broad and most beckoning road to Rome and be a vast military victory, shattering to German morale. On March 15, the town of 15,000 was reduced to ruin by 2,500 tons of Allied bombs, but yet the Germans held.

All along the 25-mile front, the Allies were advancing and headquarters said "the battle for the Gustav line is drawing to a close and the battle for the Adolf Hitler line is about to commence."

With air power in Italy to spare, U. S. heavy bombers were said by Berlin to be striking today in Romania and Serbia.

The Germans said that not only Cassino, but the ancient Benedictine Monastery above the town had been abandoned. It was shelled yesterday by the heaviest concentration of artillery fire in Mediterranean history.

The Germans also asserted that the Allied forces in the Anzio beachhead were striking south from Cisterna and Littoria, apparently a pincers movement coordinated with the drive against the Hitler line.

The Germans said their positions north of Formia had been broken and that counter-measures were in the way. They said attacks in the Esperia area "supported by heavy artillery fire and very many tanks were repulsed."

Washington, May 18.—(P)—Secretary of War Stimson said today that the Allies in Italy are now beginning to come in contact with the outposts of the heavily fortified Adolf Hitler Line and cautioned that the next step of the campaign is a difficult one.

RUSSO-POLISH DISPUTE NEAR ADJUSTMENT

Diplomatic Quarters In Washington Optimistic About Closing Breach In United Nations

RESOLUTION IS ADOPTED

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

Washington, May 18.—(P)—Russia and Poland appeared today to have made a small but hopeful start on patching up their differences.

As a result responsible diplomatic quarters here are more optimistic about closing this breach in the United Nations than at any time in the past three months.

The immediate cause of this optimism was a resolution of the Polish National Council in London yesterday asking that the position of successor to the president be separated from that of commander in chief of the armed forces.

Should President Wladyslaw Raczewski heed this advice he would have simply to appoint someone other than General Kazimierz Sosnkowski, the commander in chief, as his successor.

The Russians have objected vigorously to Sosnkowski because of his alleged anti-Soviet record.

Other governmental changes are expected to be recommended by the council, which is a sort of consultative assembly to advise the government. These changes, while internal in character, may result in creating a regime of men generally more acceptable to Moscow.

On the Russian side, diplomats here attach some importance to the Moscow visit of Father Orlemanski, the American Catholic priest of Polish ancestry, and Prof. Oskar Lange, University of Chicago economist.

One interpretation placed on the activities of these two is that Orlemanski was chosen by the Russians to convey to the world word of a desire to get on peacefully with the Catholic church, especially in Poland.

Motions For Mistrial Are Being Studied

Washington, May 18.—(P)—In an atmosphere of dead calm that contrasted sharply with yesterday's tumultuous session, presiding Justice Edward C. Eicher injected an element of suspense into today by reversing decision on two motions for a mistrial after promptly denying numerous others.

One after another defense attorneys had put motions to the court, criticizing the opening statement of Chief Prosecutor O. John Rogge as highly inflammatory and designed to "poison the minds of the jurors."

As rapidly as they were voiced, however, Eicher ruled them down until P. Bateman Ennis, court-appointed counsel for Gerhard Wilhelm Kunze, moved for a mistrial in behalf of his client, Kunze, national leader of the German-American Bund after 1939, is under prison sentences of 15 years and five years respectively, for violation of the espionage act and for counseling evasion of the Selective Service Act.

A short time later, Justice Eicher also reserved decision on a similar motion by William A. Gallagher, attorney for Herman M. Schwinn and Hans Diebel, both of Los Angeles.

President Roosevelt had nominated him following Knox's death and yesterday the senate confirmed the nomination.

The fourth to hold that portfolio during the tenure of Mr. Roosevelt in the White House, Forrester held his first news conference yesterday. He marked it with the announcement that a destroyer will be named for his predecessor, and that the outer Pacific defenses of Japan have been beaten down to the level of a "line of defense in name only."

American sea forces, he said, have penetrated 1,500 miles within the enemy defense perimeter extending from the north Pacific Kuriles through the mid-Pacific eastern Marshalls to the Bismarck archipelago.

And, bearing out the news of the heavy assault on the Japanese by the greatest navy in history, Lt. Gen. Alexander A. Vandergift, commandant of the Marine Corps, predicted that new blows will be hurled against Japan, possibly very soon.

The recurring issues of organized labor in political and negro voting in the south combined to add some tartness to a 1944 campaign distinguished chiefly so far by the steady accumulation of Democratic convention votes for a fourth term for President Roosevelt and a long lead for Governor Dewey of New York, in the Republican nomination contest.

In Washington, Representative Smith (D-Va.) proposed yesterday that the house of representatives investigate campaign expenditures

Back-to-Work Plea Headed By Foremen

Detroit, May 18.—(P)—Michigan's major labor dispute appeared settled, at least temporarily, today as the first of 52,000 war production workers made idle by a strike of 3,300 foremen began receiving calls to return to their jobs.

How soon the long assembly lines at 13 affected plants would be moving at full speed remained in doubt, but preparations were being made for an early resumption of production of aircraft parts and other war materials which top army and navy officials have termed vital to maintenance of schedules on the fighting fronts.

The decision to end the three-week strike was reached last night at six separate chapter meetings of the Foremen's Association of America, with which the striking foremen are affiliated. The action was taken on instructions from Robert H. Keys, national president of the independent union.

Management spokesmen for the six companies affected estimated at least a half million man-days of labor already have been lost by the dispute and predicted that many more would be lost before full production is resumed.

The total number of employees idle in Michigan reached a total of 72,000 yesterday.

Washington, May 18.—(P)—Undersecretary of War Patterson testified today that "any strike in wartime on war production is inexcusable, whatever the merit."

Specifically, he placed in that category the Foremen's strike just concluded in Detroit, adding that "the sacrifice of the worker is trivial compared with the sacrifice of the men on the fighting front."

Patterson appeared before the senate military committee with acting Secretary of the Navy James V. Forrestal and War Production Chairman Donald M. Nelson. All urged "work or fight" legislation.

OAT SHORTAGE PREDICTED

Harrisburg, May 18.—(P)—A possibility of an acute shortage of oats for livestock due to the late spring in Pennsylvania was reported today by the state agriculture department. The Department's Federal-State Crop Reporting Service said where oats have been planted and are above ground, the stands are thin, while on a number of farms corn and soybeans have been substituted.

Woman In Uniform Found In Bomber

London, May 18.—(P)—The body of a "woman in uniform" was among the dead crew of a British bomber which crashed in the Danish village of Gamtofte near Assens Monday, Berlin radio said today.

"It was assumed that the woman was a British war reporter," said DNB, quoting a Copenhagen report.

There has been no announcement of the loss of a war correspondent in recent aerial operations and in London press circles it was regarded as unlikely that a woman reporter would be on such an assignment.

One theory advanced here was that the "woman in uniform" might have been an adventurous girl flying with a crew of the bomber's crew. In the past there have been rumors of women donning uniforms and making unauthorized flights.

FATALITY NEAR ERIE

Erie, May 18.—(P)—Mrs. George Ellsworth, 24, of Grafton, Ohio, was killed near here early today, the coroner's office reported, when a trailer in which she was riding overturned. Her husband is a soldier stationed at Hartford, Conn.

RAIL NETWORK IN THE REICH STILL INTACT

Associated Press Correspondent Writes of Observations During Trip Across Europe

EXCHANGE UNDER WAY

Editors Note: The following is the first dispatch from Larry Allen, Pulitzer prize-winning Associated Press war correspondent, now being repatriated after 20 months in Italian and German prison camps. Allen won the Pulitzer prize in 1942 for his stories with the British Mediterranean fleet. He was captured when he accompanied a British commando raid on Tobruk in Libya on Sept. 13, 1942.

By LARRY ALLEN

Aboard the Gripsholm at Barcelona, May 18.—(P)—Nazi Germany, apparently expecting the Allies to smash through the Atlantic wall defenses, is concentrating on completion of a second great system of fortifications deep in France, and has told her soldiers that the line must be held "until the last man."

As our invasion nears, Germany's vast network of communications still is largely intact despite heavy Allied bombings.

Her great railroad terminals in all sections of the country and through the eastern part of France constantly are crowded with thousands of troops moving between the western and eastern fronts.

In all the heavily-bombed cities there is considerable destruction of factory areas and residential districts, but all the way from the Polish corridor to Marseille I didn't see a single railroad station destroyed or even seriously damaged.

I passed through Poznan, Gorlitz, Dresden, Munich, Stuttgart, Karlsruhe, and other points, and at some of them I was told that as many as 52 passenger trains roll through the stations every 24 hours.

(A large part of Allen's route was across southern and eastern Germany where Allied bombings have not been as severe as in other parts. The remainder of the route to France was across the upper Rhineland where quick repairs may have been made.)

Barcelona, Spain, May 18.—(P)—Nine hundred Americans and Britons, exchanged for a similar number of Germans, waited today for the Gripsholm to unload about 1,600 Red Cross mail parcels for American prisoners of war in the Reich before beginning their journey home.

The exchange of the Americans and Britons, who had been held in prisoner-of-war camps and brought here aboard the Gadisa just concluded in Berlin, was completed yesterday evening except for 23 German civilians who were interned in Barcelona until an agreement was reached about them.

In Washington the State Department said the Gripsholm, on her return journey, would stop at a port in North Africa and a port in the United Kingdom and was expected to arrive in New York about June 10.

Girl Casualty Causes Excitement at Hospital

By GEORGE TUCKER

Eighty Evacuation Hospital, Fifth Army Front, Italy, May 18.—(P)—Our most surprising battle casualty came in at 6 p. m. last night.

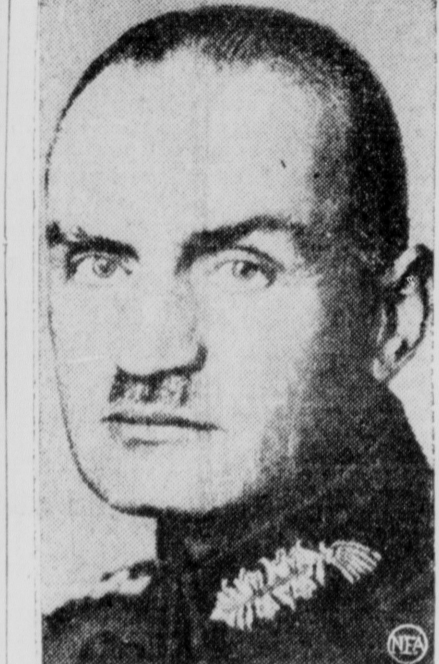

As the litter was placed gently on a pair of wooden horses in the receiving ward, where all casualties are identified and registered, the wounded warrior casually reached up and removed a cloth over his cap and a wealth of chestnut hair fell out.

"My God, it's a girl," a ward attendant cried, and all along the ward the ejaculation echoed: "It's a girl, it's a girl."

Indeed it was a girl, the first girl casualty of the battle. She was a French WAC ambulance driver and had been shot as she drove into the battle zone beyond Spigno.

"I guess I got on the wrong road," explained the WAC to Lt. Angela Brusati, San Francisco, one of our nurses who speaks French.

Nazis' Ace Tanker

Col. Gen. Johannes Blaskowitz, above, German tank specialist who headed an army in the invasion of Poland and sparked the break-through at Sedan in 1940, is now in charge of an army facing Allied attack along the southern part of the "invasion coast" of France.

U. S. Bombers Thrust Into The Balkans

By W. W. HERCHER

London, May 18.—(P)—U. S. heavy bombers of the Mediterranean command thrust into the Balkans today and were engaged in battles over Romania and Serbia, the German radio announced, while weather restricted the aerial offensive from the west.

"After a prolonged lull, U. S. bomber squadrons intruded over the Balkans this morning, protected by fighters," the Berlin broadcast said, adding that losses were inflicted.

With English Channel skies overcast and dark banks of rain clouds hovering over the French coast, there was no indication of major aerial activity from British bases. Britain had a rainless night and apparently the RAF's night bombers were grounded.

Not since the middle of February have the American and British air forces been forced to spend so many consecutive days of idleness.

There was no doubt that the Anglo-American air force was prepared to make a great drive—possibly against anti-invasion targets—when the skies clear.

FIFTH ARMY DOWN 349 PLANES IN 3 MONTHS

Washington, May 18.—(P)—Anti-aircraft artillermen of the Fifth Army shot down 349 enemy planes plus 242 "probables" in less than three months on the Anzio beachhead in Italy, War Secretary Stimson reported today.

The gunners' most successful day provided a score of 5 destroyed and 11 probably destroyed, out of a force of 172 planes raiding harbor shipping, ammunition and ground personnel.

Allied Planes again blasted the Japanese on Wake Island northwest of Hollandia and hit the Schouten Islands for the 13th consecutive day.

Mystery Cloaks Student's Death

Yonkers, N. Y., May 18.—(P)—The Hudson river's turbid waters today yielded the body of Valva Mathai, wealthy 22-year-old Indian student missing from Columbia University nearly two months, remained cloaked in mystery.

Acting Westchester County Medical Examiner Edwin M. Huntington, India, girl, who disappeared from a Riverside Drive dormitory during a pre-dawn snowstorm March 20, had drowned.

Object of one of the most intensive nation-wide searches in New York police history since she disappeared from her room at International House, Miss Mathai was the daughter of John Mathai, head of the Tata Chemical Company, of Bombay, and an Indian economist, author and government official.

Police advanced several possible reasons for her strange disappearance—that she committed suicide, had gone out to see the snow and met foul play, or had been the victim of a hit-run driver who had hidden the body.

Resignation Of Y Official Is Announced

It was learned today that President Howard Alexander of the Y. M. C. A. will announce tonight, at the annual meeting of the association, acceptance of the resignation of William L. Parmelee, physical director, effective June 1st.

Mr. Parmelee, who has served as the Y's director of physical education for the last two years, was accepted last month for service in the Navy. Although his call to report for induction has not come, there seems little doubt that it will reach him, through the Lancaster Selective Service board, soon. So Mr. Parmelee plans to leave for Lancaster, to which city his family returned a couple of weeks ago, at the end of this month.

In accepting Mr. Parmelee's resignation, the directors expressed real regret that it was necessary for them to do so, for he has won many friends for himself and the Association, and has rendered very commendable service. Although the personnel committee has been on the alert to find a successor, to date they have nothing definite to report. Plans will be made to carry on the Y. M. C. A. recreational program with temporary personnel until a permanent staff man can be secured.

The senior members of the association are asked to attend the annual meeting at 8 o'clock tonight, in the main reading room of the "Y" building, and to cast their ballots for election of directors before that hour. Because of the Centennial observance and the unusual problems of the Association in these days, there should be more than normal interest in tonight's meeting.

The C. D. of A. will meet at the Leo Gibson Funeral Home this evening at 8:30 to recite the Rosary. The Parish Rosary will be recited Friday evening at 8:30. Friends will be received at the usual visiting hours.

JOHN SMITH UPDEGRAF
John Smith Updegraf, of Tiona, died this morning at the Warren General Hospital to which institution he was admitted May 9 after having been found at his home suffering from inhaling gas.

One sister, Mrs. Sarah Hill, 9 East Seventh street, Williamsport, survives.

The body has been removed to the Lutz Funeral Home pending advice from his relatives regarding funeral arrangements.

WILLIAM S. BLAIR
Apparently stricken by a heart attack during the morning when he was getting up the body of William S. Blair, well-known resident of Pinegrove township, was found late yesterday afternoon lying on the floor of the cottage along the creek where he resided alone. A physician who was called stated that he had been dead for several hours. Discovery of the death was made by Mrs. Lenore Jordan, probation officer, a neighbor.

Coroner Ed Lowrey issued a certificate of death from natural causes.

William Stuart Blair was a son of the late William and Mary Blair and was aged 68 years. Surviving him are two sisters and one brother: Mrs. Bertha Glasgow, of Franklin; Mrs. John Rhodabarger, 5-18-11.

Obituary

Unless otherwise stated, visiting hours at Warren's funeral homes are from 10 a. m. to 12; 2 to 5 and 7 to 9 p. m.

OLLIE A. McNAMARA

Ollie A. 304 Union street, daughter of Mrs. D. J. McNamara and the late D. J. McNamara passed away at the Warren General Hospital at 11 o'clock Wednesday evening after a long and lingering illness.

She had been an associate of the Warren Tank Car Company for the last 20 years having been a private secretary there and was a well liked and much valued employee. Prior to that time she was with the Warren Trust Company. She was a member of St. Joseph's Roman Catholic Church and of the Catholic Daughters of America, Court No. 834.

Besides her mother, Miss McNamara is survived by three brothers, T. J. McNamara, of Titusville; Dr. F. W. McNamara, of Youngstown, Ohio and L. W. McNamara, of Warren; four sisters Mrs. Henry Wise, of Oswego, N. Y., Mrs. J. W. Campbell, of Tulsa, Okla., Mrs. Edgar McClen and Mrs. Mary Corah, of this city. Several nieces and nephews also survive.

Funeral services in her memory will be held Saturday morning from St. Joseph's church at 10 o'clock.

Interment will be made in the family lot in St. Joseph's cemetery.

The C. D. of A. will meet at the Leo Gibson Funeral Home this evening at 8:30 to recite the Rosary. The Parish Rosary will be recited Friday evening at 8:30.

Friends will be received at the usual visiting hours.

IN MEMORIAM

In memory of Marguerite F. Pace, who died May 18th, 1940.

Somewhere back of the sunset
Where loveliness never dies!
She dwells in the land of Glory
With the blue and gold of the skies.

And we who have known her and loved her,
Whose passing has brought us tears,
Will cherish her memory always
Down through the drifting years.

Warren Moose Lodge Initiates Class of Candidates Wed.

Warren Lodge No 109 Loyal Order of Moose last evening joined with lodges all over the nation in initiating a class of candidates in honor of the birthday of Supreme Secretary Malcolm Giles. The order had arranged to honor Secretary Giles by adding thousands of members to the ranks of the organization and this was his birthday gift from the members. In this city the class numbered about forty men and the degree work was exemplified by the famous Dubois Degree team. There were about thirty members of that lodge present for the affair.

Roy Miller Governor of the DuBois lodge acted as captain of the team and the others assisting him were: Past Governor Oscar Allen; Junior Governor Jack Grishart; Sergeant at Arms, John Dinger; Orator, Ed Cairnes; Prelate, Matt Finley. The Dubois team boasts of a splendid quartet composed of Walter, William and F. Shankle and H. Ryan. Their soloist is Pearson Culpan. The team is well drilled and performs its various duties and evolutions in a splendid manner.

The chief speaker of the evening was Jack Stoehr, Regional Director from Pittsburgh. He spoke at some length relative to the order and called attention to the many excellent beneficial and charitable acts of the Moose. Especial attention was given to Moosehart and Mooschaven, the wonderful homes for the children and for the aged. He also cited the fact that the Moose was composed of craftsmen who were contributing greatly to the winning of the war and he pointed with pride to the thousands of Moose who are marching under the flag of our nation in the various branches of the armed services. Urging that all do everything possible to aid the men in service and their families, Mr. Stoehr was roundly applauded as he was seated.

Frank Perotti, of Kane, Deputy Supreme Governor, also spoke and he touched on a number of points that week of interest and value to the members of the order.

There was a large number in attendance at the gathering and at the close of the meeting a lunch was served.

LUDLOW

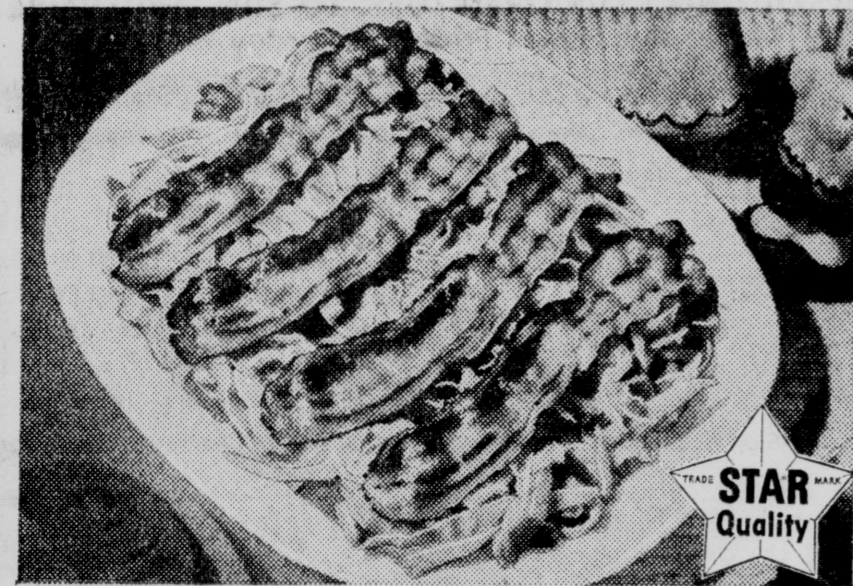

The Martha Missionary Society was entertained at the Lutheran Church parlors on Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. G. D. Swanson and Mrs. Benjamin Peterson as hostesses. The president, Mrs. C. J. Carlson, presided. The regular business meeting was held after which Mrs. Carlson gave an interesting report of the District Missionary meeting held in Warren some time ago. She mentioned that there were two local members elected to district offices. Miss Tillie Olson as Treasurer and Miss Edith Larsen as Y. W. M. S. secretary. The following program was given: Reading, Mrs. C. O. Johnson; Song by the group; reading, Mrs. Axel Larsen; prayer, Mrs. Freda Swanson. The president read the poem recently published by the Lutheran Companion written by one of our local young, talented women, Mrs. Axel Mortenson, who is a patient in the Hamburg Sanatorium. It is entitled "A Prayer Of Faith" and is one that touched everyone's heart. Mrs. Carlson mentioned that Mr. Mortenson was doing home missionary work from her sick bed.

Armour Ideas Make the Most of Meat

Armour's Star Bacon and Cabbage... Good!

Haven't you heard men rave over corned beef and cabbage? Well, just let the man of your house try this delicious bacon and cabbage dish! It's wonderfully full of flavor. It's hearty and satisfying. It's the dish that gives that "well-fed" feeling... yet is so thrifty you'll want to serve it often.

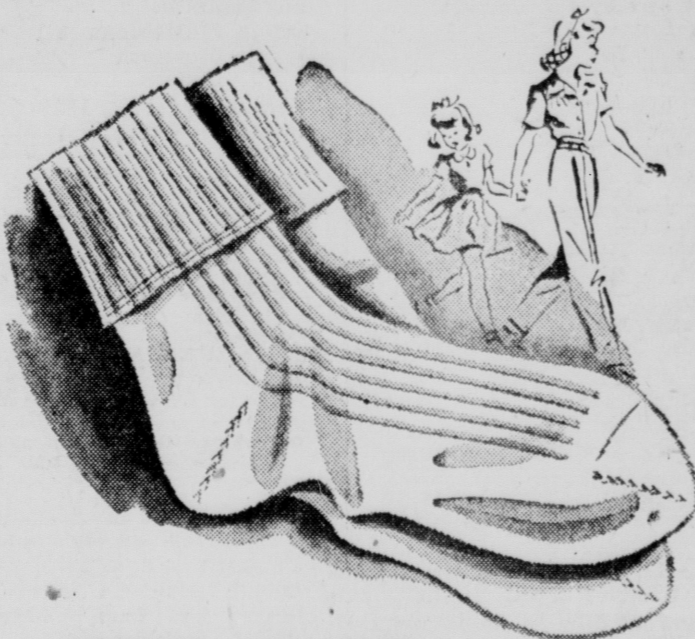

It tastes extra good because it's made with Armour's Star Bacon, the rich, mild bacon that is sugar-cured in its own juices, then slow-smoked over fragrant hickory and hardwood fires. So flavorful that its fine meat flavor extends through all the cabbage...

The hostesses served lunch at the close of the program. Mr. William Hanson and Mr. Albert Lantz were hosts to the Lutheran Brotherhood at the church on Thursday evening. The president, Clyde Gilfert, conducted the meeting. The usual business session was held after which Enoch Nelson gave a conference Brotherhood report. The program followed: Reading, John G. Johnson; piano solos, little Susan Anderson; reading, Gustav Olson; duet, Carl Swanson and John Gaynor. Lunch was served late in the evening. Prior to the Brotherhood service, the Church Council held its meeting with Gustav Olson in charge.

Mother's Day Service was held in the Lutheran church at four o'clock with the Reverend Harold Nelson officiating. Special music suitable to the day was given by the choir and Mrs. Emil Nelson. Enoch Nelson gave a report of the New York Conference of the Augustana Synod which he recently attended as the delegate from Ludlow.

Mrs. George W. Olmsted was hostess to the Ludlow Ladies' Aid on Wednesday afternoon at a luncheon served at the Pittsfield Inn. Mrs. Robert E. Wenstran, president, conducted the business meeting. Mrs. C. W. Evans was welcomed as a new member. It was decided that the Aid will work at the Red Cross rooms at four o'clock the Tuesday following each meeting.

The American Legion Auxiliary was entertained on Tuesday evening, the ninth, by Mrs. M. I. Jones at her home. The meeting was led by the president, Mrs. L. B. Connelly and the usual business meeting was held. Plans were made for the annual birthday dinner which will be held at a tureen at the home of Mrs. Silas Johnson in June. The hostess served lunch at the close of the evening.

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers relieve nagging backaches quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. The slightest neglect of this function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with roaring and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

It was announced that the honor roll will be completed by Memorial Day. It is to be painted and decorated with a gold eagle. There are one hundred and seventy-two names on it at present. The Legion has made plans for Memorial Day services to be held at the cemetery with the Reverend Robert E. Olson of Coatesville as speaker.

The Community directors held their monthly meeting on Friday evening. It was decided to ask members of the Park Association and anyone else interested to work at the park on Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, the 16 and 17, as there is much to be done.

Mrs. Adolph Johnson has announced the need for Red Cross workers as there is a new shipment of bandages urgently needed by the Red Cross.

The Senior Girl Scouts held their regular meeting on Tuesday evening, the ninth, with Mrs. Walter Cox and Mrs. Melvin McCleary in charge. The girls are giving finishing touches to U.S.O. books before sending them on to the Inspection Committee. A committee was also appointed to make plans for a party to be held in the near future.

Plans are going forward for the Junior-Senior banquet with Miss Catherine Mary Bellucci, class adviser, and Miss Carol Carr, class president, busy with details. The dinner is to be followed by a theater party.

"NO MORE TROUBLE WITH CONSTIPATION!"

Says Long-Time Sufferer Who Tried Laxative Cereal!

If you, too, are disappointed with pills and purgatives, be sure to read this unsolicited letter!

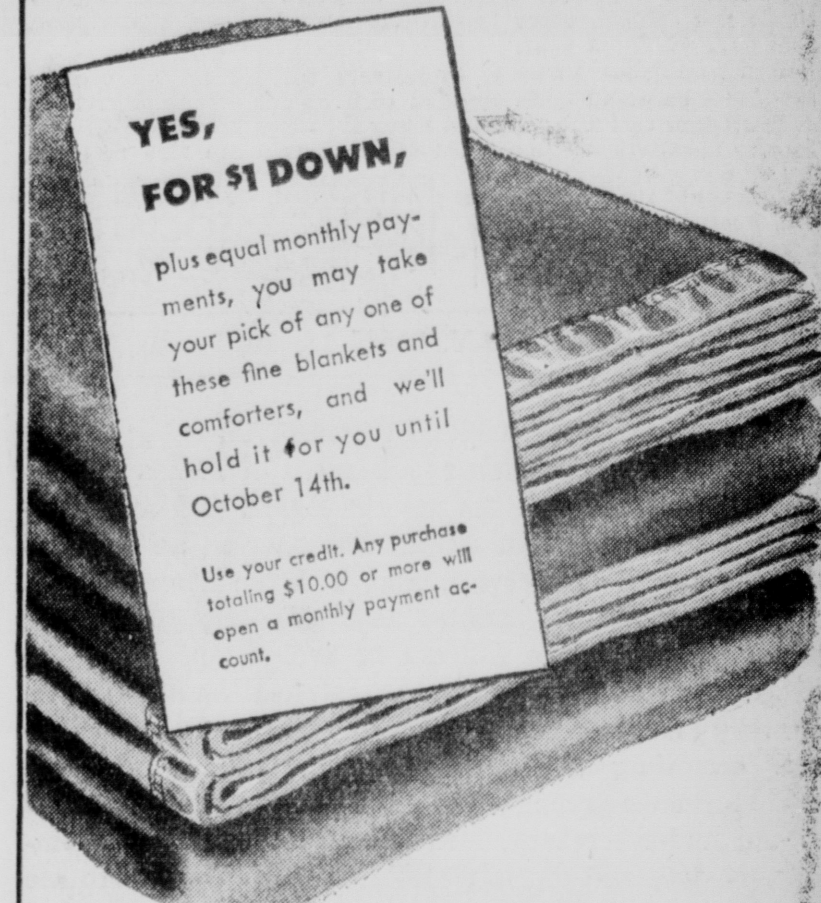

"For several years I was afflicted with common constipation. I tried various remedies, but got only temporary relief. Several months ago I started eating KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN each morning drinking water freely through the day. I have since never had the slightest trouble with constipation. My gratitude to KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN." Mr. H. M. Riley, 11 E. Division Street, Chicago, Ill.

Scientists say KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN can really "get at" a common cause of constipation—lack of sufficient "cellulosic" elements in the diet—because it is one of Nature's most effective sources of these elements! They work by helping the friendly colonic flora fluff up and prepare the colonic wastes for easy, natural elimination. KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN is not a purgative. Doesn't "sweep you out!" It's a gentle-acting, "regulating" food.

If you have constipation of this type, eat KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN or several ALL-BRAN muffins regularly. Drink plenty of water. See if you, too, don't cheer its welcome relief! Insist on genuine ALL-BRAN, made only by Kellogg's in Battle Creek.

SECRETARY FORRESTAL

President Roosevelt's appointment of James V. Forrestal as secretary of the navy is logical and commendable, is the opinion of James Thrasher in an editorial written for NEA Service, Inc., and the Times-Mirror.

It has given the country assurance that the Navy's winning combination will not be broken up. With the experience and capable Mr. Forrestal at the helm, there is every reason to believe that Navy operations will proceed according to present plans, and with a minimum of disturbance arising from a shift in the top job.

As undersecretary, Mr. Forrestal did a vitally important job, and did it well. It was up to him to see that the Navy got ships, guns and planes in a hurry, after the crippling blow at Pearl Harbor. He was in charge of contract renegotiation, and had a large part in planning for reconversion to civilian production.

Mr. Forrestal is a Democrat, and that's about the whole story of his political activity. One of those rare creatures, an ardent Rooseveltian from Wall street, he left the presidency of a big investment firm to become one of the President's administrative assistants. In that job he cultivated his natural "passion for anonymity."

This served him well in his former Navy post, where it kept him on the job and out of the spotlight. He gets on well with other businessmen, with the Navy's top officers, and with War Department colleagues.

In fact, there is only one discordant note in this chorus of approbation; disappointment at Mr. Forrestal's outspoken opposition to the proposal that our military, naval and air forces be administered after the war by a single department. It is particularly disappointing since it was clear from Admiral King's report to Secretary Knox that such combined operations, born of necessity, are already a practical accomplishment.

Both the Army's support of this proposal and the Navy's objection seem quite clear. The Army obviously wants the move started while the Army is big. The Navy would like to see action postponed until peace, when seapower, the traditional "first line of defense," will be the dominant force.

Both branches seem a little fearful of an independent, equal air force.

The chances are good, however, that Congress will eventually create the single department. The House Committee on Postwar Military Policy, before which Mr. Forrestal raised his objections, was not formed to railroad the measure through in a hurry. Its name indicates that much. Congress certainly won't tamper with administrative structure on the road to victory.

For that reason it seems too bad that the able new secretary should get mixed up now in the old professional Army-Navy feud, from which a civilian head might better keep aloof.

It'll be a great day in May when the Warren County Red Cross chapter ships the 45,000 surgical dressings expected of them. Month by month the quotas have been filled by loyal women who gave their time to this all important war job. The medical men in the service are grateful for each dressing that they must use in their heart-breaking work. You wouldn't knowingly keep a soldier from being properly armed in combat. Don't deprive him of the surgical dressings that he may require when wounded in battle. It's a woman's war too and this is the way you can help.

An announcement that will cause considerable regret is made today in an item stating that William L. Parmelee, capable and obliging physical director at the YMCA for the past two years, is leaving Warren the first of June. Since coming here Mr. Parmelee has endeared himself, not only to patrons of the "Y" but all with whom he came in contact. We wish Mr. Parmelee and his family continued happiness and success.

The death of Charles McNett at Clarendon Wednesday removes another old and substantial resident of the county who did not confine his interests to his home community. He was not only the oldest fire chief in Pennsylvania, but ranked among the best in the state, a fact which is attested to by his high standing among volunteer departments in towns much larger than Clarendon.

The money you make doesn't do you near as much good as the money you put into War Bonds.

T-H-O-U-G-H-T-S

He that hath knowledge spareth his word.—Proverbs 17:27.

Silence is sometimes the severest criticism.—Buxton

C'Mon, Boys—Be Reasonable!

Washington in Wartime

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON—Some administration stalwarts are admitting—off the record, of course—that they are considerably perturbed about the criticisms being tossed at several war agency chiefs.

Most of these criticisms, at the moment, have to do with manpower, the food production and distribution programs, and rationing.

Outstanding example is the recent announcement of OPA Director Chester Bowles that all points are off on all meats but steaks and roasts. This, coming on the heels of reduction of butter from 16 to 12 points a pound and the lifting of the rationing on shortening and many processed or canned vegetables, gave the impression that the lifting of all rationing might be just around the corner.

At the same time, OPA announced that points allowable for meats and other red stamp products would be available from now on only at the rate of 30 points for each four weeks, instead of 60. The full import of this didn't hit the public immediately, but it did strike administration critics between the eyes.

ON THE floor of Congress, it was asserted that the new point allowance made butter, choice cuts of beef, and rationed cheese cost just twice as many points as before. Families who formerly got their 12-point a pound butter out of 30 points per person per fortnight are now going to have to get the same butter out of 15 points per person for every two weeks. Beef eaters, who formerly could eke their points out over a period to satisfy their cravings for good red meat, now find they have only half as many points to play with.

Unless OPA was off the beam entirely, this is exactly what it intended. The announcement might very well have read: "We are taking all rationing off certain red stamp non-scarcity articles for the time being; and doubling the point value of those still being rationed."

ADDING to the confusion was a recently published article in a national magazine over Chester Bowles' by-line in which he predicted that many of the processed foods and meats wouldn't be free of rationing until after Germany, at least, is defeated and perhaps not until after the war in the Pacific is over.

Actually, according to government officials and others not involved in the fracas, the confusion arises more from mishandling of public pronouncements than in policies pursued.

One good point of our rationing law is its flexibility. Shortages or surpluses arising today can be taken care of within a few hours by tightening point-values here, lifting them there.

Buried in the Bowles announcement of the lifting of some meat rationing was the warning that this might only be for a few months. If the word "temporary" had been written into the first sentence, much of the present criticism might have been avoided.

YEARS AGO IN WARREN

Interesting Items Taken From The Warren Evening Times

In 1924

The old Lacy farm which was purchased and laid out in lots by Dr. L. E. Chapman and W. O. Skelton, is enjoying a building boom. Six new homes are being erected, among them several attractive bungalows. The growth of the ninth ward is marked.

Checks are coming in to W. V. Geer to finance the series of band concerts and block parties arranged for this summer by a committee of citizens. However, the money is not coming in fast enough.

Eighteen years ago a dapper looking fellow alighted from a train, gave Warren the once over, and decided to park his truck here. The man was E. L. Stein and he has been a fixture in Warren since that time. He is celebrating his 18th anniversary of arriving in Warren.

William Hart and Ernest Anderson, of Sheffield, are low bidders for the construction of a mile of hard surface road through Marleville. Machinery has been ordered and work will get under way on its arrival.

A large number of trees have been set out on the Wetmore property. The trees will line future street. North Warren is growing nicely and several will build homes there this summer.

In 1931

Members of the Sons of the Legion will hold their regular drill on Saturday afternoon at 3:30. The group will have a place in the Memorial Day parade.

Final compilation of the vote cast in Venango and Warren counties for State Senator show that L. E. Chapman, of Warren has a 1327 vote majority over Wayne W. Bleakley, of Franklin.

Over 40 men are at work on the Columbus dam. Construction has been resumed after a layoff due to the fact that funds were not allocated for the work.

Warren Commandant Knights Templar, have arranged to attend services at the First Methodist church on the Sunday before Memorial Day. Dr. Clarence E. Allen will be assisted at the service by the Rev. C. A. Dennig.

The North Warren baseball club will hold a benefit dance to raise funds for the operation of a club this summer. The dance will be held in the North Warren Arcanum hall Friday evening.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

New Version of an Old American Tradition

We were sitting on Ed Carey's porch, enjoying a friendly glass of beer, when a squadron of fighter planes goes over—in tight formation—swift and trim and powerful.

"There," says Ed proudly, "goes an American tradition." "What do you mean, tradition?" Eben Crowell says. "America's a hundred sixty years old—flying's the newest thing there is."

"But those planes," says Ed, "they're the best in the world—the best made and the best flown. That's what I mean by an American tradition: making things, doing things, just a little better, whether it's an airplane or a railroad or a glass of fine American beer like this."

And from where I sit, Ed has put his finger on what makes America great—and will keep her great. The urge to do things just a little better—from the planes we make to the glass of beer that we enjoy. Things to be proud of—all of them!

GOOD SEALS HELP TO STOP CANNING FAILURES
Many difficulties that home-makers encountered in their canning last year were due to war-time jars, lids, and rubbers. Manufacturers have been studying problems brought to their attention and offer some suggestions on using canning equipment successfully.

Occasionally a metal lid with composition rubber ring attached is too large for the screw band. Before using, slip the metal lid into the screw band to see if the lid fits tightly. If the lid is too large, the screw band won't exert the same amount of pressure on all parts of the jar edge and a perfect seal won't be made.

Commercial jars, such as those used for salad dressing or peanut butter, may be used for canning fruits and tomatoes. These jars do not have a wide shoulder as regular jars for canning have so will not hold in place a rubber ring and zinc top lid. The edge seal lids, such as the metal lid with rubber rings attached or the three-piece cover with glass lid, small rubber ring, and metal screw band, should be used.

The prevent screw bands from rusting during storage, remove them from the jars 12 to 24 hours after the jars have cooled. By removing the bands, the lids also can be tested to see if a good seal was made.

Filling jars too full is another cause for poor seals. Pint jars should be filled to within one inch from the top. If jars are too full, the food may run over the neck of the jar and prevent an edge seal type of lid from sealing. Always wipe off carefully the neck of the jar with a clean cloth before putting on the lid. Small particles of food on the top of the jar may prevent a perfect seal.

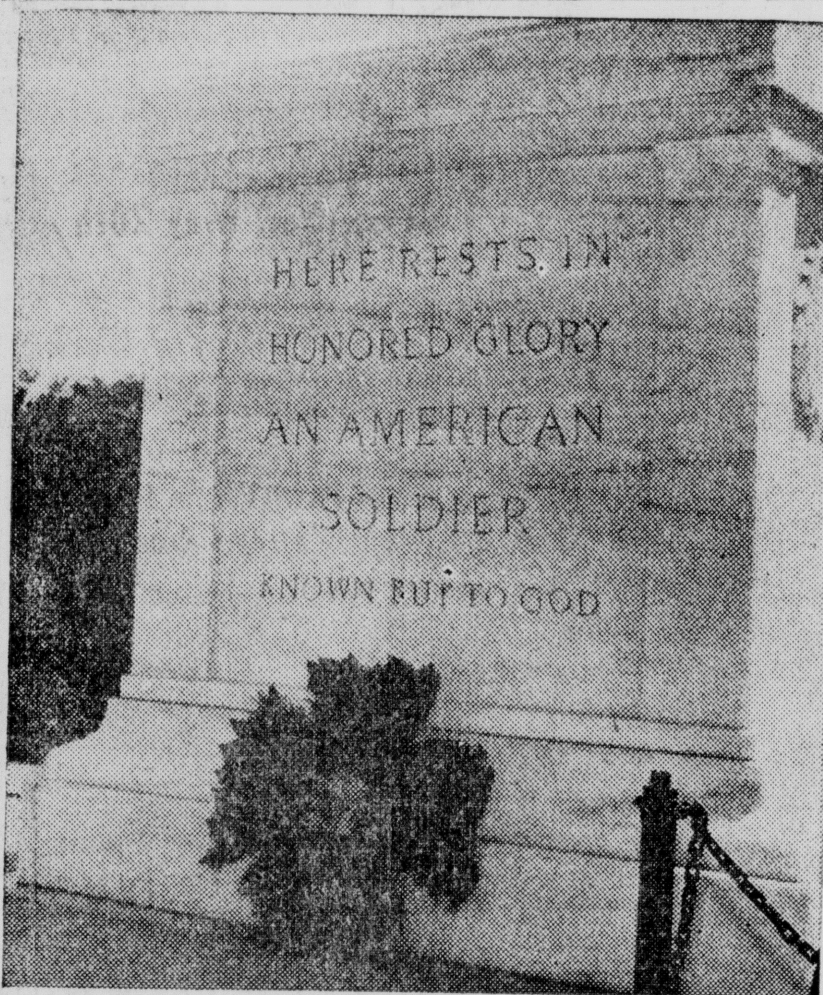

Another complaint from home-makers is that rubber rings used last year gave foods an odor. To prevent an occurrence of that this year, it is suggested that the rubber rings be scrubbed with a brush in hot soapy water. Then for each dozen rings add a teaspoon of soda to a quart of water. Then for each dozen rings add a tablespoon of soda to a quart of water and boil the rings 10 minutes in solution. Rinse well before using. Start with fresh soda and water for each lot of rings.

The aim of the 23rd annual nation-wide sale of Buddy Poppies by the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the U. S. is highly dramatized in this picture of the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier in Arlington Cemetery. The V. F. W. emblem, at the base of the Tomb, is composed of Buddy Poppies which were fashioned by the hands of disabled veterans of the first World War and the present conflict.

Phantom Decks

Tankers, because they ride so low when loaded, until this war never transported deck cargoes.

Today, through so-called PHANTOM DECKS, American tankers can carry not only assembled or boxed airplanes but also the fuel to fly them.

Supporting the cargo well above the regular deck, "phantom decks" are welded frames made to fit each type of cargo.

In this way, planes, trucks, and PT boats are made fast, out of the way, and safe from heavy seas. A Tanker's "phantom deck" carried the PT. Boat which MacArthur later used to escape from the Philippines.

CLOROX bleaching is Extra-Gentle on your precious hard-to-replace linens!

CLOROX lessens rubbing... prolonging life of fabrics... it is ULTRA-REFINED... free from caustic, an exclusive patented quality-feature!

HERE'S a helpful hint for making white and color-fast cottons and linens last longer during these times of shortages... a method followed by millions of housewives. It's simply this... include Clorox in the regular laundering process. For Clorox is extra-gentle in bleaching... efficient in restoring white cottons and linens to their lovely whiteness (brightens fast colors, too). Clorox is free from caustic, mild in action... it lessens rubbing, lets fabrics last longer.

WHY TAKE CHANCES!
"When it's CLOROX-CLEAN it's hygienically clean!"

And Clorox is valuable in another important way. It helps protect family health by providing sanitation in laundering, and in routine cleansing of kitchen and bathroom "danger zones." It also removes stains and deodorizes. Clorox is the choice of millions... it's pure, safe, dependable, concentrated for economy. Clorox has the same full strength, the same high quality standards, today as always. Make it your choice... be sure to ask for Clorox by name. Simply follow directions on the label.

DRAFT IN REVERSE:

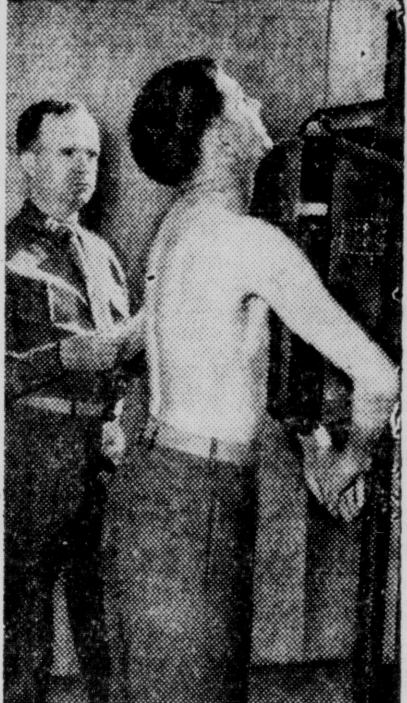

AP Features
DISCHARGED soldiers are getting out of the Army exactly as they got into it — only backwards. At the first World War II Separation Center at Fort Dix, N. J., soldiers are being discharged in a 48-hour reversal of the induction procedure, planned to help them find satisfactory niches in civilian life.

1. First step in becoming a veteran of World War II is taken by Pvt. Richard W. Turnbull, 28, of Garrettsville, N. Y., who came from New Caledonia to Fort Dix. Here he hands in his Army records for study by skilled staff.

2. Pvt. Turnbull turns in his excess equipment to the supply sergeant. Then he's given a check list of questions relating to his work, schooling and financial problems, and is urged to get all problems off his mind.

3. Medical examination is next. If anything is found wrong, the soldier is hospitalized until he's cured and finally discharged.

4. The Major's signature on his Certificate of Honorable Discharge changes Pvt. Turnbull into Mr. Turnbull. He plans to work on a farm.

5. Before collecting first part of his mustering-out pay, $100, the soldier discusses future plans, aptitudes with interviewers. Not all soldiers want their old jobs, because of disability or personal preferences.

6. With his discharge paper in his pocket, Pvt. Turnbull catches the bus for Trenton on first lap of his trip home. Recommendations made for his guidance at the Separation Center will help him find the right job.

Washington Girl Will Soon Marry Lt. Wilson Brydon

Mr. and Mrs. Philip M. Ennis, of Washington, D. C., announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Janet Ennis, to Lt. Wilson R. Brydon, with the Army Air Forces and son of Mrs. Helen E. Brydon, of Warren. The wedding will take place in June.

Miss Ennis attended American University and West Virginia Wesleyan, receiving her bachelor of arts degree from the latter in 1943. She was a member of Sigma Delta Chi Sorority. She was formerly with the Washington Evening Star, but is now a reporter for the Washington News Service.

Lt. Brydon graduated in 1939 from St. Petersburg College, where he majored in music and drama, receiving keys from each department for outstanding performances. In Warren, he will be remembered for his activities in Warren Players Club and with his own dance band.

He enlisted in the air corps and entered service in February, 1942; receiving his wings and commission at the single engine school at Craig Field, Ala., in April, 1943, with an above-average rating. At present he is on duty at Randolph Field, San Antonio, Tex. Upon completion of his course at Central Instructors School there, he will be stationed at Gunter Field, Ala.

Mothers Honored In Special Party By Dorcas Class

Dorcas Class members of the First Lutheran church entertained with a pleasant party in the social rooms Wednesday evening to honor their mothers and the mothers of men and women of the congregation in the armed services.

There were more than 80 persons present for a program in charge of Mrs. E. K. Rogers. Opening with a short devotional period, the program continued with a Mother's Day play, "Her Day", given by the forget-me-not patrol of Troop 19, Girl Scout unit recently instituted and sponsored by the class. Those taking part were Katie Ann Thomas, Peggy Henderson, Betty Moore, Janie Rogers, Maxine Weid, Ellen Henderson and Becky Keim.

The women's chorus sang two selections and Mrs. H. A. Rhinard told very interestingly of many of her experiences as an army chaplain's wife. There followed an informal period in which various mothers told of news of their boys in service.

To conclude, refreshments were served by Mrs. Lloyd Rapp and her committee, with Mrs. Rhinard and Mrs. Rogers presiding. The table was attractively decorated by Mrs. Floyd Ahlquist.

FALSE TEETH That Loosen Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Holds false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). Get FASTEETH at any drug store. (adv.)

Hollywood Gossip

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD — For several years now studios have been announcing, with pious air, that they were through with "B"—or low-budget—pictures. They obviously were kidding, though now indeed it appears that the number of such offerings on the altar of the double-feature policy will be reduced.

If it disappears entirely, audiences may suffer less—though some "B's" have topped in entertainment value their expensive "A" companions. At the same time, Hollywood will lose a training ground for talent.

And that comes from a toughened King of the B's newly graduated to better things, one Robert Paige. You'll never hear an actor say he's glad to be working in the B-hives. You'll hear plenty of them grouching over their fate when they do. The right producers don't see the B's, and one little B leads to another.

"BUT I'm glad I did time in them," says Bob Paige, who once made so many prison quickies he felt he was really doing time.

There was a time when Paige had so many B's tossed at him he finished 19 in as many months. He didn't like it. He longed to shake that B-dust and climb to the A-line with top roles in major movies. He has made it now—he's lead to Deanna Durbin in "Can't Help Singing"—so he can say: "Thanks for all those B movies—I hated 'em, but they put me where I am today!"

"Those B's are the movie counterpart of the old theatrical stock companies," he says. "You seldom hear of a stage actor starting his career on Broadway. No, he first spent years in stock, playing a different role every week. It was tough schooling, but it paid off finally. . . ."

"IT'S true in the movies, too. Very few people start at the top and stay there. Oh, I know about Deanna, but she's different. As a B-actor I worked plenty hard and plenty long hours, often an average of 12 hours a day straight through a picture. I played parts I didn't like. And I often was plenty burned when I saw some other fellow walk into a big part I felt sure I could play myself. In those days I knew I was ready for anything. Now I know that I wasn't. I had five years in the B's—I think every actor needs at least two."

Paige was ready, apparently, when Robert Cummings rebelled at doing "Fired Wife." Paige clicked, and went on to get this role opposite Universal's princess. So next time you suffer through a bad B, have a heart for the actor—maybe he's working up to a job with Bette Davis or Hedy Lamarr.

Organization For Fifth War Loan Is Named By Committee

The organization for the Fifth War Loan, June 12th to July 8th, was announced this week by the Warren County War Finance Committee.

With but few exceptions the same committee heads who led the successful Fourth War Loan in this county are serving in the drive in what is expected to be the most crucial period of the war.

M. H. Deardorff again heads the executive committee, assisted by Vice-Chairman R. W. Mackay, H. W. Conarro and D. C. Smith.

Other committee heads are as follows:

Publicity: William E. Rice; speakers: H. D. Harris; clubs and lodges: Walter Kiser; industrial corporations: John L. Blair; banking and investment: R. W. Mackay; business and professional: N. D. Patterson and Mrs. E. G. Hamilton; retailers: Ben Kinnear; industrial: W. E. Yeager; life underwriters: H. C. Schmidt; farmers: Stanley Laurence; Warren borough: Mrs. P. L. Davis; North Warren: G. H. Rickerson; county: A. L. Rasmussen.

County district leaders: R. W. Baldwin, Sugar Grove; L. R. Briggs, Tidoute; A. W. Goal, Clearenden; H. M. Kay, Youngsville; R. B. Leonard, Kinzua; C. R. McNeal, Sheffield.

Junior War Finance Committee: C. R. Seymour, chairman; John G. Rossman and H. L. Blair, vice chairmen.

Fifth War Fund headquarters will open within a few days in Room 201, Warren National Bank Building.

Burroughs Wounded On Italian Front

Mrs. Vernelle Burroughs, of 414 Hazel street, has received notice from the War Department that her husband, Ufc. Claude G. Burroughs, was wounded while fighting on the Italian front where the American troops are engaging the Germans.

His wife on May 9th received word that he had been awarded the Purple Heart.

The notice from the War Department was as follows:

Regret to inform you that your husband, Pfc. Claude G. Burroughs, was on April 24th wounded in action in Italy. You will be advised as reports of his condition are received.

Dunlop, Acting Adjutant General.

Pfc. Burroughs is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Burroughs, of Starbrick.

DOG HAD RABIES

Dr. Sperry Kinton yesterday destroyed a dog that was suffering from rabies. The animal had been under observation for some time and had a pronounced case of the disease. Two children were bitten by dogs yesterday.

BITTEN BY DOG

Police report that David Larson had been bitten by a dog last evening. The animal was on a leash. The skin where the dog placed its teeth was not broken and investigation brought to light that the dog was not ill. It was not quarantined by the investigating officer.

PLAN DISTRICT MEETING

District No. 3 of the Scandinavian Fraternity of America will hold its annual meeting here on Saturday at 1:30 p. m. Delegates representing twelve lodges will meet for a business meeting and election of officers in the Odd Fellows hall Hickory street. A smorgasbord supper will be enjoyed in the S. F. of A. hall at 6:30. Tickets are for sale in the lodge room.

INJURED IN FALL

Louis Ecklund, 201 Dartmouth street, was painfully injured late yesterday afternoon when he fell from a scaffolding at Youngsville. He suffered a cut on his right arm, laceration on the left thumb and brush burns about the face. Aged 77, he also suffered considerable shock and his condition at Warren General Hospital is described as "fair".

Socialized Medicine Is Well Discussed

At the meeting of the County Medical Society Tuesday afternoon at the YMCA Dr. Gail R. Riddleberger gave a most comprehensive talk on the present status of health insurance or prepaid medical care, a much debated subject in social, economic and medical circles.

Most medical practice today is based on post payment plan; i. e. payment of fees, after services have been performed. Reformers propose, socialized medicine a form of compulsory insurance, like social security and workmen's accident insurance; the physician to be a salaried officer of the government and the public to receive medical care as needed and through the taxation of the people.

The private insurance companies and many groups of various kinds have developed one hundred or more plans for pre-payment medical care. Most of these plans are limited to groups or to low income classes and limited to certain diseases of a surgical nature or to obstetrics. Some furnish only hospital care.

Dr. Riddleberger spoke of the weaknesses of many of these forms; he believes the medical profession will be obliged to adopt some type of insurance which will cover many of the objections now raised against a Federal plan and at the same time give the public good medical care and allow a physician a reasonable return for his investment he has made in time and money preparing for his job.

He outlined the condition under which such medical insurance should function.

It should be applicable to all, should allow free choice of physicians, should be economic in nature—not a charity either for patient or doctor and should provide as good medicine as possible.

For the indigent and irresponsible person perhaps some compulsory government security may be required. But for the great majority of persons voluntary medical insurance like fire insurance can be fostered.

It is up to the medical profession, to develop such plans and act in conjunction with the corporations that make insurance their business.

Twenty-three members of the profession were in attendance and the meeting was a highly enjoyable affair.

Lt. Governor County Council of Community Pays a Visit to Agencies To Meet May 23rd Kiwanis Club

Charles Truran, of Meadville, lieutenant governor of Kiwanis in District One, made his official visit to the Warren Kiwanis Club Wednesday in connection with the weekly luncheon-meeting in the Hotel Carver.

Carl Peterson, Kiwanis president, was honored for his progressive program this year. The Kiwanis members were complimented for publishing the monthly news sheet "Home Front News," a paper mailed to all the Warren county men and women serving in the armed forces. The Kiwanis organization is meeting with splendid success and have met all the goals set for the first quarter by Kiwanis International.

Mr. Truran gave an excellent address on "Post War Planning". He outlined some of the problems and gave a suggested procedure for community post-war planning, that would work on both Liberty street and Pennsylvania avenue, so that Warren would have adequate jobs and production at war's end. He stated: "Planning, to be effective, should raise the right questions and get the right answers." In this respect his remarks hit the target. Work in nearby Kiwanis clubs, particularly Meadville and Erie clubs, on this project were mentioned, and the plans are meeting with considerable success.

Harold Flowers, chairman of the program committee, announced that Kiwanians will hear an address at next week's meeting on the subject "Centennial Of Telegraph" by L. A. Shew of Pittsburgh. Mr. Shew is district superintendent of the Western Union's 4th District, a territory which includes western New York state, western Pennsylvania, all of West Virginia and part of Maryland. The speaker, who has 28 years of service with Western Union and is a member of the Morse Club of America, is well qualified to talk about the telegraph industry.

It will be exactly 100 years to the day, as on May 24, 1844, Samuel Finley Breese Morse, an American artist of note who knew comparatively little about things mechanical and electrical, saw his fondest dream come true when he sent the now historic first telegram—"What Hath God Wrought!" Mr. Shew in his talk to Warren Kiwanians to mark this occasion is expected to review the tremendous progress made by the telegraph industry in the hundred years, and reveal the industry's blueprint for the future.

Two resolutions were presented and adopted unanimously, one paying tribute to the late A. J. Burhen, of the Seventh ward, whose death occurred last July, and the other representing the views of the committee concerning issues of the campaign, commending Governor Martin for his endeavors in securing a fair return to farmers for their products, and for the part he had in the speedy and efficient manner in which the state legislature provided a way for members of the Armed Forces to vote; county officials were commended for the manner in which they have conducted their offices, and the State Committee praised for the manner in which it has "fought against the waste of and destructive policies of the present national administration. Support was pledged to the county chairman and the entire state ticket.

Judge Allison D. Wade spoke briefly after the new members were introduced. Others who were called upon were: State Senator L. E. Chapman; County Solicitor A. C. Flick, Jr.; Prothonotary Addison White; Recorder O. E. Loper; H. R. Baxter, committeeman from the Fifth Ward; Allen Gibson, candidate for general assembly; Dan Haggerty, Warren county superintendent of Highways; Sheriff L. E. Linder; District Attorney J. H. Goldstein; Mrs. A. C. Flick, Jr.; County Commissioners George Seavy and P. C. Ostergard.

Following the brief remarks, a round table discussion was held participated in by many of the committeemen, the subjects including the soldier vote bill recently passed at Harrisburg, plans for the coming presidential campaign, postwar planning, etc.

Robert Reed, personnel director of the General Electric Company of Erie, has accepted an invitation to attend the organization meeting of the Warren Council of Community Agencies and to address the gathering on the work of the Erie Council of Agencies of which he is president.

The meeting of the local Council will be held in the small court chamber of the court house on next Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock. Not only are all of the regularly appointed organizational delegates urged to be present, but other officers and members of interested agencies, as well as any and all interested individuals of the community or county are invited to be present to hear directly from one of Erie's outstanding leaders concerning the values of a Council such as the one being effected here.

Temporary Chairman Nelson A. Johnson will preside until the nominations committee has reported and the election conducted. The committee, of which Mrs. D. E. Conaway is chairman, is prepared to report a slate of nominees for the formal election of a president, a vice-president, a secretary, treasurer and six additional members of the executive committee, provided for in the recently approved constitution.

Eighteen organizations and agencies have formally signified their intention of participating as members in the Council and others are considering doing so. This number is indicative of the widespread interest in and the possible value of the new coordinating, cooperative force which is to become a reality next Tuesday night.

Republicans Hold Annual County Meet

Jesse G. Smith was unanimously re-elected chairman of the Warren County Republican committee at the annual reorganization meeting held last evening at the Pittsfield Inn with approximately seventy in attendance including forty committeemen, eleven represented by proxies, and special guests. After the nomination by Ward Goursoun, a motion was made that the election be made by rising vote, with every committeeman applauding the action.

Carlton Curtis was named temporary chairman and T. Milenius temporary secretary. The credentials committee was composed of George E. Seavy, O. E. Loper and R. D. McKelvey, and the tellers were Donald Schuler, Leslie Hale and D. Lay. They reported there were forty committeemen represented in person, eleven by proxies and but one absent.

Mr. Smith responded to the ovation tendered him with a few words of appreciation and a pledge of continued untiring efforts in behalf of the organization.

Two resolutions were presented and adopted unanimously, one paying tribute to the late A. J. Burhen, of the Seventh ward, whose death occurred last July, and the other representing the views of the committee concerning issues of the campaign, commending Governor Martin for his endeavors in securing a fair return to farmers for their products, and for the part he had in the speedy and efficient manner in which the state legislature provided a way for members of the Armed Forces to vote; county officials were commended for the manner in which they have conducted their offices, and the State Committee praised for the manner in which it has "fought against the waste of and destructive policies of the present national administration. How to RUIN DRESSES AND LOSE FRIENDS

It's tragic how some girls lose their friends and ruin their dresses because of perspiration odor and stains. And there's no excuse for it! It's easy to save dresses, it's easy to save friends.

Use Arid, the new cream deodorant that helps keep your armpits dry and removes the odor from perspiration. Arid is safe and dependable for these 5 reasons:

1. Does not irritate skin. Does not rot dresses or men's shirts.
2. Prevents under-arm odor. No stop perspiration safely.
3. A pure white, antiseptic, stain cream.
4. No waiting to dry. Can be used right after shaving.
5. Awarded Approval Seal of American Institute of Laundering—has less to fabric. Use Arid regularly. Arid is the largest selling deodorant. Sold at all stores selling toilet goods. 10c, 39c and 59c a jar.

Plan All-Summer Planting to Keep Victory Garden Soil Producing

A well studied Victory garden plan should provide for these points:

- 1-An all-season harvest, so far as possible, of all the vegetables grown.
- 2-Production of an abundance of very crop without wasteful surpluses, which consume space and work which could be devoted to needed crops.
- 3-Continuous occupation of the land, so that a maximum yield for the space occupied is produced.

To prepare such a plan, a study should first be made to determine what vegetables the family will eat and put up for the winter. Don't row crops which your family refuses to use.

Next, decide on the quantity of each vegetable needed, and the garden space required to produce it.

Finally, for all which have a short harvest, total production must be divided into several sowings, so that one harvest will follow another, as the first is used up, or its quality falls off.

Data for these calculations have been given in this series, and the practical application of them is illustrated in the plan which accompanies this article, and the planting schedule which follows.

Do not copy this plan and schedule, but make your own, based on conditions in your garden and your own family preferences. In making any plan, adjustments are always necessary, with a little more of one crop sown here, a little less of another there, in order to make each row a complete row, and keep the ground occupied all season.

So far as horticultural events can be foretold, this garden will produce a continuous harvest all season, of the family's favorite vegetables, without waste surplus or avoidable scarcity, and no space unoccupied for long.

The garden for which this plan was made has a picket fence on the north, east and west sides, and is open to the south. It enjoys full sun all day, is fairly level and well drained. Here is the schedule:

Row 1-Cucumbers, trained on fence.

Row 2-Swiss chard, harvest all season.

Row 3-Parsnips, all season.

Row 4-Egg plant, 12 plants, all season.

Row 5-Peas, follow with rutabagas, for fall harvest.

Row 6-Carrots, follow with green beans for fall.

Row 7-Leaf lettuce, follow with onion sets, for late green onions.

Row 8-Green beans, follow with carrots, for fall.

Row 9-Endive, early sowing.

Row 10-Beets, follow with leaf lettuce, for fall.

Row 11-Onion sets, follow with endive, for fall.

Row 12-Turnips, follow with Chinese cabbage.

Row 13-Wax beans, follow with beets, for fall.

Row 14-Carrots, June sowing.

Row 15-Green beans, June sowing.

Row 16-Leaf lettuce, May sowing, follow with turnips for fall.

Row 17-Bush lima beans.

Row 18-Beets, June sowing.

Row 19-Salsify, grow all season.

Row 20-Spanish or Bermuda onion plants, set 50 plants early.

Row 21-Carrots, May sowing.

Row 22-Parsley, all season.

Row 23-Peppers, 12 plants, all season.

Row 24-New Zealand spinach, all season.

Row 25-Peas, Sow early, follow with Brussels sprouts, for fall.

Row 26-Kale. Sow early for all season.

Row 27-Broccoli. Sow or set out 12 plants early, grow all season.

Row 28-Lima beans, trained on fence, all season.

At back of garden, row 50 feet long will be planted to tomatoes trained on fence. Lacking fence, use stakes. Thirty-six plants can be planted.

LADY IN A WHIRL

By Esther Valck Georgins

Chapter 8

THE man turned his head, which was adorned with a remarkably luxuriant growth of a whiskers, and regarded the man and his occupants. Then he stood up in the cart and the woman saw, to their relief, that he was clothed from the waist down in a pair of ragged trousers. After such exhortation and cracking of a whip, he got the oxen to the stable, and Zeldia managed to get by. He made them a courtesy bow as they passed.

"Can you imagine," Cora said, "he's been here for years. I used to see him when I came up here to my mother when you were baby. He was a young man then, just out of college."

"He's not bad looking," Zeldia said.

"No. He had some funny notions. I remember. He wouldn't eat any meat. And he had a funny name. I've forgotten it."

A few minutes later they reached the cottage. Sam and Eglantine, who had seen the cart approaching, were on the steps to greet them.

"My, you've got it looking nice today," Zeldia told them as she entered the house.

While Cora went to the kitchen to see about lunch, Zeldia wandered around the place. There was wide porch that ran around the sides of the cottage, with steps leading up to a sun deck. The view was magnificent. Near every window framed a picture of distant mountain peaks and sun-speckled valleys.

As Zeldia gazed out over this scene, the ox cart hove into sight. When they reached the driveway the beasts came to a leaved halt; the bearded driver jumped down and approached the house.

"Ah, a caller already. Well, he can entertain him," Zeldia giggled to herself and casually related.

Chapter 9

A LOT of nonsense! A grown woman not able to stay one for a day! Cora went back the porch grumbling at Zeldia's cozen.

Oh Be Thankful had removed a shoe and was critically inspecting the callus on the bottom of his foot.

"Oh grass needs cutting. Do I know anybody who'd be glad to earn a few dollars cleaning up after us?" Cora asked, making perhaps he would like to take advantage of the offer herself.

"Grass? Cutting?" said her ecstatic caller. "I don't know of anybody. Anyway I think it's better to let grass grow. I think it's your waste to cut grass. That is, you want a nice, luxuriant lawn."

"Well, maybe." After all he was ruest, and Cora was willing to concede a little in the name of hospitality. "It makes it very bad a wet day though. You get going wet every time you step."

"Ah, there's another mistaken a." Oh Be Thankful smoothed red whiskers. "Too many thes. Everybody wears too ny clothes. Even I wear too ny clothes. But what can you do?"

The last time I tried going ie some old fool up the line nplained, and I was arrested."

looked Cora over critically. o many clothes," he mused, l stroking his beard.

"Well, another thing—" Cora urged the subject hastily—"the ce is full of poison ivy." She ned down and yanked a green ig out of the ground.

Oh Be Thankful leaped as ough a bomb had gone off eavens!" he shouted. "Don't

Leaders Will Train At Girl Scout Camp

Camp Birdsall Edey will be completely filled the weekend of May 19 through 21 when Girl Scout leaders from a 60-mile radius will gather for a short period of training.

This training, under the chairmanship of Mrs. H. G. Stohl, has received the blessing of the national Girl Scout organization. Mrs. Stohl received a letter from Mrs. Ronald Leslie, regional director, as follows:

"Dear Mrs. Stohl, I am delighted to hear of your plan for inviting nearby councils to join you in a weekend training session at Camp Birdsall Edey. You have no idea how much the Regional staff appreciated your making this training available to those councils in your vicinity. It has been impossible for us to reach all our small councils this year and we are very conscious of their needs. We are most grateful for your cooperation in helping to meet this need."

"I discussed this plan in some detail with Mrs. Correll when we were in Lewistown and told her that we would let her have a list of those councils who were within traveling distance. If you would like us to do so we can also send from this office announcement of the training to the commissioners and urge that they take advantage of it."

"If we can be of any help to you, do let us know. Please accept our sincere thanks and congratulations for this fine piece of regional cooperation and service."

Most sincerely,

Mrs. Ronald Leslie.

Leaders from St. Marys, Ridgway, Oil City, Tionesta, West Hickory, Titusville, and Jamestown, N. Y., in addition to local persons, are registered for the training session.

HOLLYWOOD—The important thing about James B. Cassidy is that he is going to color-film "Green Mansions," a property which for some reason people's world-wide popularity has escaped the cameras. And yet I like to think of him, too, as the producer most likely to avert dyspepsia, ulcers, and other occupational hazards.

Cassidy is a husky, good-looking, pink-cheeked lad of 31—which makes him the youngest independent producer in the business—and he's the only producer I know who is a champion weight-lifter, so recognized last September by the American Weight-Lifting association and the A. A. U.

To dispose of that first, Cassidy says he undertook the weights as a time-saving exercise. "I found that a half-hour spent two or three times a week at it did me as much good as three hours of other kinds of exercise." He also believes in absorbing quantities of vitamins out as he asks us to forget that—"people will think I'm a fanatic, which I'm not"—we wouldn't think of mentioning it except to pass on the information to those who want to be movie producers. Vitamins and weight-lifting, that's how.

OF COURSE it would help, as it did in Cassidy's instance, if you came from Springfield, Mass., majored in economics at Harvard, and tied in with a publishing company. Then, if your interest in books and movie rights sent you to Hollywood where you could look over the situation, as Cassidy did, that would be dandy. You'd have to raise some financial backing, of course, which Cassidy did or he wouldn't be talking about a $2,000,000 budget for "Green Mansions."

W. H. Hudson's novel once before was projected as a film, but nothing came of it. RKO planned it for Dolores del Rio, and it collected dust after Miss Del Rio left the studio. Then along came Cassidy, with a notion that a 1905 book that still sells 400,000 copies a year ought to make a popular movie—especially now when the Good Neighbor policy is to the fore.

"Hudson is claimed by South America," he says, "as his own. He was born in Argentina of American parents, and later became a British subject. South Americans consider 'Green Mansions' their own book, so we may make the first important good-will picture to come out of Hollywood. We have been assured of their cooperation, and we intend to shoot part of the film on location in South America. We feel a great responsibility in dealing with such a book. Now we have the technical devices to capture the story and its setting, and we feel that if we can capture Hudson on film we'll have one of the great pictures of all time."

THE letters are coming in from Hudson fans, and as usual concern casting. Fredric March, Ronald Colman and Walter Pidgeon are frequently mentioned for the role of Abel—man in quest of his ideal—but the votes are going to some unknown to play Rima, the ethereal object of his love.

Maybe the vitamins and weight-lifting have something to do with it, but you don't often see a producer as enthusiastic as Cassidy.

READING & WRITING BY Edwin Seaver AND Robin McKown

Vicki Baum has followed her immensely popular "Grand Hotel" with another novel about a German hostelry—"Hotel Berlin." Hotel Berlin, like its predecessor, has a varied assortment of fascinating guests, but things have changed radically under a war-torn Nazi regime.

The windowpanes are still shattered from the last air raid. The heavy brocade curtains have tears in them, and the stuff is coming out of the deep luxurious chambers. But the hotel is still the best there is, a to it come people of high position, Russian officers, Nazi officials, famous actresses. To it also comes Martin Richter, underground leader, and there he is hidden in the deep wine cellars by two sympathetic French waiters.

On the walls of houses, on the cars, the crowded underground trains, there often appears a scrawl, "You can kill Richter—but you can't kill spirit." Service crews go around and wipe it off; guards are posted watch the exposed spots. But the next morning, there is the scrawl again.

The influence which Martin Richter, who is a symbol of courage and freedom to the oppressed, has upon the residents of the hotel, is the main thread of Miss Baum's novel.

The Greeks of Homer's time, writes H. E. Jacobs, in "Six Thousand Years of Bread," were contemptuous of the Scythians, who ate oats like their horses. The Romans cherished the same contempt for the oat-eating Germans. And many centuries later, Samuel Johnson, in his famous English dictionary, defined oats as "food for men in Scotland, horses in England." To which, it is said, the indignant Scots replied, "England is noted for the excellence of her horses, Scotland for the excellence of her men."

The Book-of-the-Month Club announces that the selection for July will be "Joseph, the Provider," by Thomas Mann. This is the last volume of Mann's tetralogy about the life of Joseph.

Storekeepers in America's early days were somewhat indifferent to orderly inventories, Thomas D. Clark tells us, in "Pills, Petticoats and Plows." There is the story, for instance, of the merchant who couldn't find a handle to a pump he had ordered. In impassioned letter, he informed the wholesaler that they had maliciously left him in the lurch. But before he could send the letter a boy came in to say he had found the handle. Instead of destroying the letter and forgetting the matter, the storekeeper added the mildly apologetic postscript, "Never mind what I have said. We have found the darn thing," and sent it on.

Orval Grove Squares Account With New York Yankees With 4 to 0 Victory Wednesday

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer
It took Orval Grove a year to get even but the Chicago Sox righthander today has squared his debt with the New York Yankees, who broke his nine-game win streak and ruined his no-hit bid in 1943.

Grove became the first pitcher to shut out the New Yorkers when he blanked them 4-0 with five hits yesterday.

Last July, Grove had a no-hitter with two out in the ninth when Joe Gordon's double spoiled it, and a few weeks later the world champ ruined his attempt for a tenth straight victory.

Washington muffed a chance to go into a virtual tie for the American lead by bowing before Cleveland Vern Kennedy's four hit effort, 4-2. Jeff Heath with a double and two singles, and Oris Hockett with a triple and a pair of singles, sent Roger Wolff down for his first loss.

Buddy Hall's boot with the bases loaded cost Philadelphia's Athletics a 2-1 decision to Detroit much to the dismay of 28,535 Quaker City fans who were trying to root the A's home for their seventh straight.

Boston split two with the St. Louis Browns, winning 5-1, behind Tex Hughson's four-hit hurling but losing after a wild scramble in the finale, 12-8. Joe Cronin of the Red Sox became bench manager again, yielding first base to George Metkovich and appearing only as a pinch-hitter. By the split and Detroit's night win, the Sox plunged into the cellar.

Brooklyn might be last in the national of the Chicago Cubs weren't putting up such a strong defense, for the Dodgers tumbled into seventh position after bowing to Pittsburgh, 8-5. The Brooks, having a poor road trip, came up with four runs in the sixth to grab the lead but the Pirates rallied with four in their half for an 8-5 margin before rain forced them to call it a night. Tommy O'Brien's triple with the bases loaded was the game-winning poke.

The Braves continued to get top flight pitching as Red Barrett rocked the St. Louis Cardinals back on their heels with five blows for a 5-1 edge.

Bucky Walters turned from pitching to hitting and as a pinch batsman cracked a double that gave Cincinnati a 6-5 triumph over the Phils in a see-saw game called a moment after the hit in the eighth inning because of rain.

Joe Medwick and Danny Gardella paced the New York Giants attack on five Chicago tossers for a 10-6 margin in a free-hitting game.

Berry Chalks Up Fourth Win For Athletics

By BOB HOFFMAN
Philadelphia, May 18.—(P)—Jonas Arthur "Jittery Joe" Berry walked into the Philadelphia Athletics' training camp—a complete stranger—one day this spring when the temperature was in the 30's.

He threw a couple of pitches and then cut loose with a curve ball. "There's my relief pitcher," said Connie Mack.

"A good one might mean the difference between the cellar and first division," one of the coaches remarked.

Today, the Athletics are up in the first division, and the league pitching averages show—"Berry, won 4, lost 1."

But the records don't tell the whole story. In his four victories Berry has pitched hitless ball—eight innings of it. In a game he saved for Don Black he gave the Yanks one hit in two innings. He looked bad just once, in his only loss, when he gave the Senators six in two.

"Jittery Joe," a resident of Huntsville, Ark., who confesses to be 38, has been knocking around the minors for 17 years. He had a trial with the Chicago Cubs after the 1942 season, when he won 18 games for Tulsa and had an earned run average of 1.88. But he was sent to Milwaukee where he won 18 last year. The A's bought him during the winter.

PONY LEAGUE

Buffalo, N. Y., May 18.—(P)—The Erie Sailors moved into first place in the Pony league last night as they defeated Bradford 4-3, 5-2 at both ends of a doubleheader.

Bradford opened well in the first game and led 2-1 until the seventh inning when the Sailors scored two and added a clincher in the ninth. The second game, scoreless until the seventh inning, was won for the Sailors by four runs in the eighth.

The Batavia Clippers nosed out the Wellsville Yankees 2-1 in a game that was called at the end of the eighth inning because of rain. A homer by Kromko, Batavia left fielder, provided the Clippers' margin of victory.

In the other games played last night, the Jamestown Falcons evened their series with the Olean Oilers by defeating them 6-5, and Hornell trounced Lockport 10-3, forcing the Cubs back into second place.

Today's games: Batavia at Bradford; Hornell at Jamestown; Olean at Lockport; Erie at Wellsville.

Should the Electoral College
Be Abolished?

As debated by
Henry Hazlitt
Member Editorial Board,
New York Times

DR. WILLIAM STARR MYERS
Professor of Political Science,
Princeton University

MR. HAZLITT OPENS: The Electoral College is not merely useless but mischievous. Under it, no matter how the popular vote of an individual state divides, the whole electoral vote of that state must be cast for the majority candidate. In 1940, though Willkie polled 3,027,478 votes in New York, and Roosevelt 3,251,918 Roosevelt received all 47 of that state's electoral votes. If these had been divided in the same proportion as popular votes, Roosevelt would have got only 24 and Willkie nearly 23. The Electoral College system always distorts the popular vote. In close races it has actually reversed that verdict. The system makes the outcome of an election depend on accidents. It gives disproportionate powers to political machines in "pivot" cities. It intensifies and prolongs sectionalism; it has made it pointless for a Republican to seek votes in Georgia or a Democrat in Maine. It has reduced the average stature of our Presidents by arbitrarily narrowing the field of choice to candidates from "doubtful" states. The Electoral College vote of each state should be divided in the same proportion as that state's popular vote. Better, the whole Electoral College system should be abolished.

DR. MYERS CHALLENGES: Mr. Hazlitt has given additional arguments for my suggested reform of the Electoral College. One can imagine what opportunities popular voting would have given the Vire machine in Philadelphia or old Tammany in New York to manipulate the returns so as to determine a close election throughout the nation. It must be remembered that the Electoral College is an added support to the integrity of the individual states, which is necessary if we are to prevent the United States from becoming a totalitarian nation. The Constitution is a bulwark of American institutions. It is not perfect, but should be adopted to changing times, not drastically changed, so that popular faith in and respect for it may be preserved.

MR. HAZLITT REPLIES: Professor Myers' proposal to vote for members of the Electoral College on the same basis as we choose Congressmen would be an immense improvement over the present system. But in a close race it could still reverse the popular verdict by electing the candidate who received the majority of popular votes. Why not simply divide a state's electoral vote in the same ratio as its popular vote? And why go to all this trouble to preserve the Electoral College, which would nullify the purpose of the Constitution? Bagehot's maxim is still sound: "Whatever is unnecessary in government is pernicious."

Must We Change Our Far Eastern Policy?

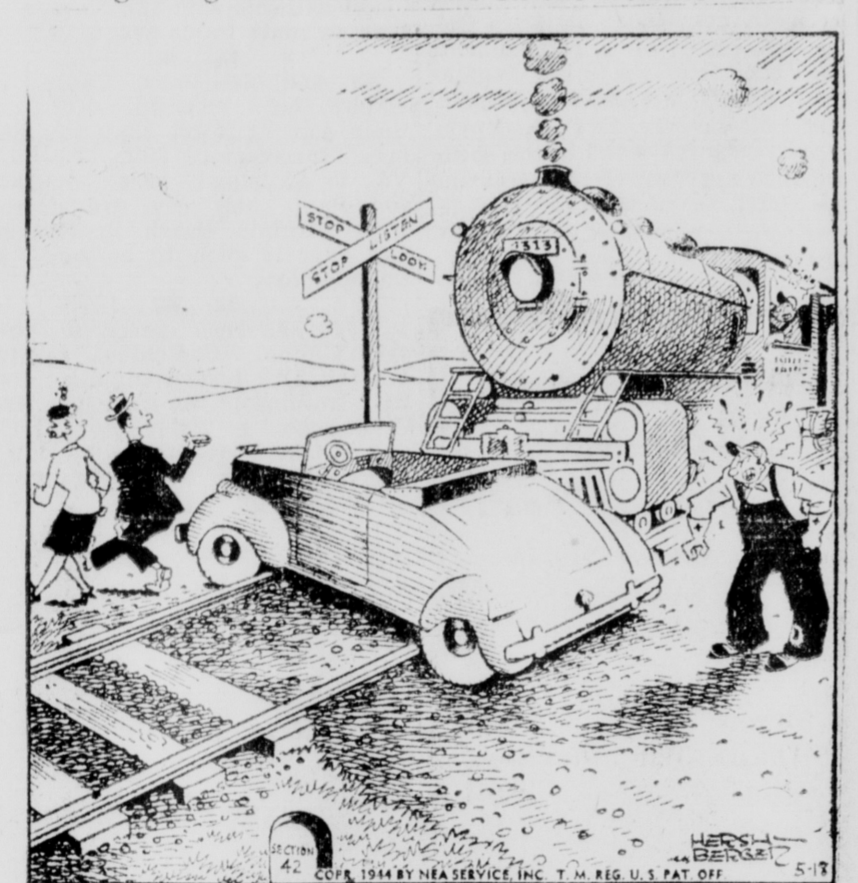

As debated by
James R. Young
Author of "Behind The Rising Sun" and "Manchurian Express"

John Goette
INS War Correspondent; Author "Japan Fights For Asia"

MR. YOUNG OPENS: Let's have action—let's clean house in the State Department. We can win the battle of the Pacific, but we are not prepared to follow military successes with satisfactory diplomatic approaches. Diplomatically we gave China assurances at Cairo and Tehran, but the wisdomen in the State Department have little faith in our commitments. Our abolition of extra-territorial rights in China resulted after years of pressure. A war brought us together. Finally we abolished the Immigration Exclusion Act. One blanket indictment of our foreign policy is the seeming refusal of certain members of the State Department to listen to more practical-minded protocol representatives who recognize the lack of diplomatic values in dealing with Japan. A change in foreign policy for the future requires removal of a half dozen men, obstacles to a streamlined diplomatic concept of the Far East. The American public in the past has been held as being uninterested in Far East policy, not realizing movements in 1938 showed the deepest concern. The State Department has set itself aside from the robustness of America, dislikes public criticism, cannot calculate future policy. An overcautious, timid attitude is hampering our future Far East diplomatic relations. We must change NOW to firm declaration for future groundwork toward a powerful American policy in the Pacific.

MR. GOETTE CHALLENGES: Chiang Kai-shek on January 1, 1944, declared that he and President Roosevelt agreed on the handling of defeated Japan. Chiang Kai-shek claimed credit for the plan, which does not indicate a lack of faith in America. If "organized movements" in 1938 expressed concern, why was the 1940 election based partly on pending American troops overseas, and why did Congress refuse to fortify Wake? Fortunately, unlike the dictators, the State Department does not direct our thinking. It can move only as national trends guarantee support. Japan was aggressive for ten years before Pearl Harbor forced the American people to accept war.

MR. YOUNG REPLIES: If Congress did not favor fortification of Pacific bases, foreign policy failed to support military needs. Secretary of State Stimson, in September, 1931, actually throttled newspapers in reporting Japan's Manchurian invasion. This policy aimed at appeasing Japanese "liberals" who our mentally frozen diplomats thought would control the militarists, and continued to December 7, 1941. Lack of Far East policy and an apparent inability to work one out is evident. Perhaps some of Mr. Hull's strategists are the "cheerful idiots" the President mentioned in his last broadcast. Expose NOW those who believe in preserving the Japanese emperor and who think "better treatment rather than harsh peace terms will sway the ruthless leaders now in control."

We'll be back June 20th, when the next gas coupons are good!

THIS CURIOUS WORLD

MR. YOUNG CHALLENGES: In the early alphabet agency days, Harry Hopkins was quoted "the hell they won't shoot Santa Claus." Notwithstanding the "recorded deeds for which we need feel no shame" stated by Mr. Goette, I would paraphrase our past foreign policy as "the hell we won't supply Japan with war material." The Chinese have a bill of lading of war materials sold Japan, made possible by fence straddling diplomacy. Who allowed the Japs into closed Alaskan ports? Who did not want the American navy representatives to visit mandated islands? Foreign policy was responsible. Mr. Goette says be flexible. That means fence straddling. I hold be firm. Prepare with a strong future foreign policy minus censorship.

MR. GOETTE REPLIES: Surely Mr. Young dares not contend that our foreign policy has remained unaltered since Pearl Harbor. However, he bases all his criticism on those pre-war years and not on what we do today or project for tomorrow. He overlooks our State Department's request of July, 1935, that the U.S.S. Albatross be permitted to visit Japanese mandated islands. Tokyo was unresponsive. Would Mr. Young have had America back that request with war? Now that we are at war, he lightly says, stop "fence straddling." Is the present sacrifice of American lives and billions to defeat Japan unconditionally mere "fence straddling?" Mr. Young?

ANSWER: Labrador.

TIMES TOPICS

HIGHLY ATTRACTIVE

Warren today viewed the new office of the Sears, Roebuck & Company with much approval. The new office was thrown open to the public today and hundreds have admired its arrangements and beauty. The designers achieved well in the store and its decorations and arrangements are admirable. The windows are also attractive and well arranged. Many pretty flowers adorned the store today and added to the beauty of the scene.

DISCOVERY OF BODY SOLVES COAST CRIME

Los Angeles, May 18.—(P)—A special police detail today guarded the cell of Jan Francis Sarazawski, 29, following recovery of the nude body of Mrs. Marian Berger, 42 year old housewife, from the Pacific ocean at Encinal Beach, 14 miles north of Malibu. Sarazawski is charged with slaying Mrs. Berger, who had been missing for a week.

The finding of the body completes our case against Sarazawski, said Capt. Thad Brown of the Los Angeles police, who established the identification last night, a few hours after two women saw the corpse bobbing in the surf and pulled it ashore.

UNEXPECTED VERDICT

Harrisburg, May 18.—(P)—Paul E. Sanger, Myersstown auctioneer, and L. R. Bucklew, farmer of South Anville township, Lebanon county, accused of violating OPA ceilings in sales of two tractors, won a directed verdict of acquittal in U. S. district court when the government unexpectedly rested its case shortly after the start of the trial yesterday.

DEGREE FOR ARNOLD

Waynesburg, May 18.—(P)—Gen. Henry H. Arnold, commanding general of the Army Air Forces, will receive the degree of doctor of military science in absentia at the 93rd annual commencement at Waynesburg College Sunday. Press of duties will prevent Gen. Arnold's attendance at the ceremonies.

(negro) party be allowed eight of the 18 main convention delegation. In other actions, the South Carolina Democrats named an un-instructed delegation; defeat an anti-fourth term candidate for state chairman but recommended that the tenure of a president be limited to two four year terms, and voted to call another state convention after the national convention to consider its decisions. The Arkansas Democratic convention chose 20 uninstructed delegates, but adjourned without taking action on changing party rules to permit negroes to vote in local and state elections. On the Republican side, a nine man uninstructed delegation was chosen in Vermont, but there was much support reported in it for Dewey.

Charge Man With Attempt To Ravish Girl

Charles Bliss, 45, a Sheffield resident, is being held by police for action by the district attorney on a charge of assault with attempt to ravish. The fellow was captured on the Gladerum bridge last evening by Howard Landers, John Bailey and Leo Turner and turned over to the police.

It is alleged that the fellow accosted a nine-year-old girl who had been sent to a grocery store to secure bread and on her way home he followed her and along a path leading to her home gave her 20 cents and induced her to sit down with him. Neighbors witnessed the act and summoned the child's father and the fellow left. He was followed to the Allegheny Hotel and then traced out on the bridge, where he was captured.

He will be given a hearing this week and will doubtless appear in court.

The investigation and prosecution of the case are being handled by District Attorney J. H. Goldstein.

Service Held By Grangers For Deceased

Four members of Warren Grange, No. 1025, who have died within the past year—C. S. Knapp, Mrs. Richard Olson, John Ahlman and Mrs. Alice Lowe—were honored in the annual memorial service held in conjunction with this week's regular meeting.

The memorial tribute opened with a hymn, "In the Garden," followed by a reading by Margaret Johnson, hymn, "The Lord's Prayer," sung by the First Evangelical quartet; Beryl Rhoades, Geraldine Mathis, Lorraine Harkless and Frances Peterson, accompanied by Mrs. Edwin Jack; roll call and ceremony; hymn, "Shepherd of Israel," quartet.

The regular session was opened in full form, with a song, "Twilight Is Stealing"; minutes, report of the fire solicitor; communications.

It was decided to send the lecturer, Orpha Peck, to the coming lecturer's conference at State College. Named as a refreshments committee for the next regular meeting were Mr. and Mrs. William Hoffman and Mrs. E. B. Anderson.

Following the meeting the social committee served refreshments and the remainder of the time was devoted to enjoyment of shuffleboard games.

MEN AND WOMEN IN SERVICE

It is learned here from Peterson Field, Colorado Springs, that Sgt. Richard D. Carlson, of Jamestown, N. Y., has recently joined the combat crew training school group there as an aerial engineer-gunner.

Pvt. Frederick Petersen has arrived from Camp Adair, Ore., for a 15-day furlough with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Petersen, 431 Prospect street.

Pvt. John Budila left Tuesday for Camp Phillips, Kans., after spending a seven-day furlough with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Budila, Sheffield, and with his sister, Mrs. Mike Simko, 16 Plum street.

Word has been received that Lt. Orlando J. Cerra, son of Philip Cerra, 3 Plum street, has arrived safely overseas and is now stationed in England.

Pfc. Frank C. Willard, son of Mrs. Sue Willard, East street, has returned to his duties with the evacuation hospital unit at Camp Cooke, Calif., after a 10-day furlough at home.

Sgt. Lawrence D. Gerould, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Gerould, has arrived in Camp Maxey, Texas, after a short delay en route. He has recently completed a special training course at Camp Crowder, Mo.

Pvt. Herbert Fitzgerald, training with an engineering unit at Fort Belvoir, Va., spent the past weekend with his wife and son, 3 Marver street. Pvt. Fitzgerald was formerly employed at the Sherwood Refining plant.

Mrs. Walter Riggie has received word of the safe arrival in the South Pacific theater of her husband, who is a petty officer second class in the Seabees.

Pvt. Ralph E. Martin, of the U. S. Marine Corps, who left Warren March 14, has completed his boot training at San Diego, Calif., and has been placed in the engineers for transfer to New River, N. C. He will spend a 16-day furlough with his wife and parents in Erie en route to his new station.

Mr. and Mrs. John Cable, of Akeley, have received word from their son, Clifford, that he has been transferred from Norfolk, Va., to an island base. Another son, Paul, has been transferred from Virginia Beach to Norfolk and expects soon to be sent to Philadelphia.

Word has been received here that Uldine Gutchins, former Warren girl, has completed her field training in the American Red Cross school in Washington, D. C., and has been transferred to Camp McCoy, Wis., to await orders for overseas duty.

Pfc. Bob Jackson arrived home last evening from Lincoln, Neb., to spend a 15-day furlough with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Jackson, 619 Pennsylvania avenue, east.

will be "exceedingly difficult." Allied forces, said Stimson, have cracked the enemy's Gustav Line, which runs through Cassino and then south and westward to the sea.

But the Hitler Line, ranging from 10 to 15 miles beyond the Gustav fortifications, is a series of mountain positions which have been heavily reinforced by German engineer units, using enforced civilian labor.

Even behind that line, Stimson said, mountains flank the routes to the north.

Stimson said, in summarizing the situation, that "we do not wish to make claims in advance" of attainments, but added that the "tangible" results of the campaign to date do not need advertising.

Urge Farmers To Get Loans For Food Crop

Farmers of America are today faced with the greatest demand for food the world has ever known and sufficient production will be had only if every individual farmer does his share in producing food and vital crops. The Emergency Crop and Feed Loan Office is cooperating by financing those farmers who are eligible, thereby enabling them to meet and, if possible, surpass the food production goals.

Farmers who do not have the required security to obtain loans from local banks are eligible for crop and feed loans in amounts up to $400, depending on the acreage of crops to be produced or the number of livestock to be fed. The interest rate is 4 percent per year and loans are to be repaid in the fall from the sale of crops or livestock.

Those interested may write directly to Field Supervisor I. J. Nealon, Box 454, Butler, Pennsylvania, for information where to apply.

Pictured here is the late Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox inspecting an anchor of the USS Intrepid which was presented to him by the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States. The anchor is for use in a special Navy Memorial Day ceremony when the replica will be cast upon the waters of the Atlantic Ocean in memory of the navy's honored dead. Millions of these Buddy Poppies will be worn in lapels on VFW Poppy Day, May 20.

Resignation Of Y Official Is Announced

It was learned today that President Howard Alexander of the Y. M. C. A. will announce tonight, at the annual meeting of the association, acceptance of the resignation of William L. Parmelee, physical director, effective June 1st.

Mr. Parmelee, who has served as the Y's director of physical education for the last two years, was accepted last month for service in the Navy. Although his call to report for induction has not come, there seems little doubt that it will reach him, through the Lancaster Selective Service board, soon. So Mr. Parmelee plans to leave for Lancaster to which city his family returned a couple of weeks ago, at the end of this month.

In accepting Mr. Parmelee's resignation, the directors expressed real regret that it was necessary for them to do so, for he has won many friends for himself and the Association, and has rendered very commendable service. Although the personnel committee has been on the alert to find a successor, to date they have nothing definite to report. Plans will be made to carry on the Y. M. C. A. recreational program with temporary personnel until a permanent staff man can be secured.

The senior members of the association are asked to attend the annual meeting at 8 o'clock tonight, in the main reading room of the "Y" building, and to cast their ballots for election of directors before that hour. Because of the Centennial observance and the unusual problems of the Association in these days, there should be more than normal interest in tonight's meeting.

OLLIE A. McNAMARA

Ollie A., 304 Union street, daughter of Mrs. D. J. McNamara and the late D. J. McNamara passed away at the Warren General Hospital at 11 o'clock Wednesday evening after a long and lingering illness.

She had been an associate of the Warren Tank Car Company for the last 20 years having been a private secretary there and was a well liked and much valued employee. Prior to that time she was with the Warren Trust Company. She was also a member of St. Joseph's Roman Catholic Church and of the Catholic Daughters of America Court No. 834.

Besides her mother, Miss McNamara is survived by three brothers, T. J. McNamara, of Titusville; Dr. F. W. McNamara, of Youngstown, Ohio and L. W. McNamara, of Warren; four sisters Mrs. Henry Wise, of Oswego, N. Y.; Mrs. J. W. Campbell, of Tulsa, Okla.; Mrs. Edgar McLean and Mrs. Mary Corah, of this city. Several nieces and nephews also survive.

Funeral services in her memory will be held Saturday morning from St. Joseph's church at 10 o'clock.

Interment will be made in the family lot in St. Joseph's cemetery.

The C. D. of A. will meet at the Leo Gibson Funeral Home this evening at 8:30 to recite the Rosary. The Parish Rosary will be recited Friday evening at 8:30. Friends will be received at the usual visiting hours.

JOHN SMITH UPDEGRAF

John Smith Updegraf, of Tiona, died this morning at the Warren General Hospital to which institution he was admitted May 9 after having been found at his home suffering from inhaling gas.

One sister, Mrs. Sarah Hill, 9 East Seventh street, Williamsport, survives.

The body has been removed to the Lutz Funeral Home pending advice from his relatives regarding funeral arrangements.

Warren Moose Lodge Initiates Class of Candidates Wed.

Warren Lodge No. 109 Loyal Order of Moose last evening joined with lodges all over the nation in initiating a class of candidates in honor of the birthday of Supreme Secretary Malcolm Giles. The order had arranged to honor Secretary Giles by adding thousands of members to the ranks of the organization and this was his birthday gift from the members. In this city the class numbered about forty men and the degree work was exemplified by the famous Dubois Degree team. There were about thirty members of that lodge present for the affair.

Roy Miller Governor of the DuBois lodge acted as captain of the team and the others assisting him were: Past Governor Oscar Allen; Junior Governor Jack Grishart; Sergeant at Arms, John Dinger; Orator, Ed Cairnes; Prelate, Matt Finley. The Dubois team boasts of a splendid quartet composed of Walter, William and F. Shankle and H. Ryan. Their soloist is Pearson Culp. The team is well drilled and performs its various duties and evolutions in a splendid manner.

The chief speaker of the evening was Jack Stoehr, Regional Director from Pittsburgh. He spoke at some length relative to the order and called attention to the many excellent beneficial and charitable acts of the Moose. Especial attention was given to Moosehart and Moosehaven, the wonderful homes for the children and for the aged. He also cited the fact that the Moose was composed of craftsmen who were contributing greatly to the winning of the war and he pointed with pride to the thousands of Moose who are marching under the flag of our nation in the various branches of the armed services. Urging that all do everything possible to aid the men in service and their families, Mr. Stoehr was roundly applauded as he was seated.

Frank Perotti, of Kane, Deputy Supreme Governor, also spoke and he touched on a number of points that week of interest and value to the members of the order. There was a large number in attendance at the gathering and at the close of the meeting a lunch was served.

LUDLOW

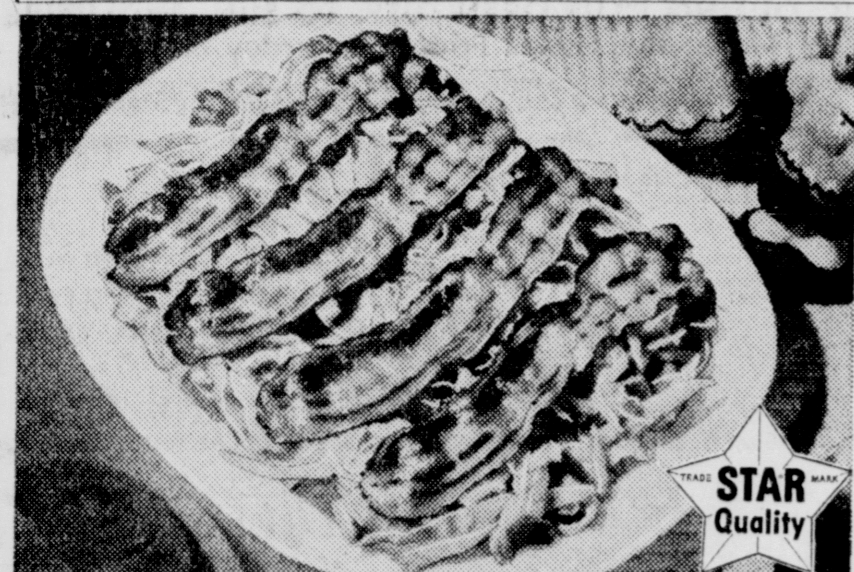

The Martha Missionary Society was entertained at the Lutheran Church parlors on Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. G. D. Swanson and Mrs. Benjamin Peterson as hostesses. The president, Mrs. C. J. Carlson, presided. The regular business meeting was held after which Mrs. Carlson gave an interesting report of the District Missionary meeting held in Warren some time ago. She mentioned that there were two local members elected to district offices. Miss Tillie Olson as Treasurer and Miss Edith Larsen as Y. W. M. S. secretary. The following program was given: Reading, Mrs. C. O. Johnson; Song by the group; reading, Mrs. Axel Larsen; prayer, Mrs. Freda Swanson. The president read the poem recently published by the Lutheran Companion written by one of our local young, talented women, Mrs. Axel Mortenson, who is a patient in the Hamburg Sanatorium. It is entitled "A Prayer Of Faith" and is one that touched everyone's heart. Mrs. Carlson mentioned that Mr. Mortenson was doing home missionary work from his sick bed.

Armour Ideas Make the Most of Meat

Armour's Star Bacon and Cabbage... Good!

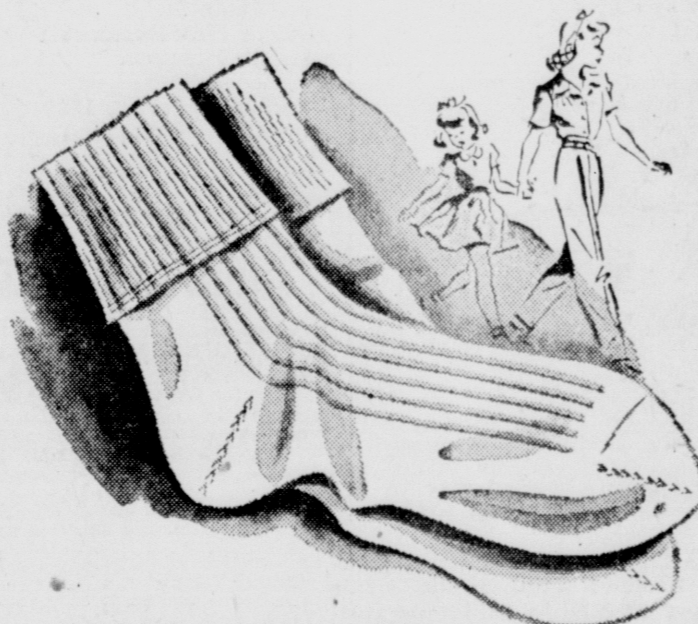

Haven't you heard men rave over corned beef and cabbage? Well, just let the man of your house try this delicious bacon and cabbage dish! It's wonderfully full of flavor. It's hearty and satisfying. It's the dish that gives that "well-fed" feeling... yet is so thrifty you'll want to serve it often. It tastes extra good because it's made with Armour's Star Bacon, the rich, mild bacon that is sugar-cured in its own juices, then slow-smoked over fragrant hickory and hardwood fires. So flavorful that its fine meat flavor extends through all the cabbage...

The hostesses served lunch at the close of the program.

Mr. William Hanson and Mr. Albert Lantz were hosts to the Lutheran Brotherhood at the church on Thursday evening. The president, Clyde Gilfert, conducted the meeting. The usual business session was held after which Enoch Nelson gave a conference Brotherhood report. The program followed: Reading, John G. Johnson; piano solos, little Susan Anderson; reading, Gustav Olson; duet, Carl Swanson and John Gaynor. Lunch was served late in the evening. Prior to the Brotherhood service, the Church Council held its meeting with Gustav Olson in charge.

Mother's Day Service was held in the Lutheran church at four o'clock with the Reverend Harold Nelson officiating. Special music suitable to the day was given by the choir and Mrs. Emil Nelson. Enoch Nelson gave a report of the New York Conference of the Augustana Synod which he recently attended as the delegate from Ludlow.

Mrs. George W. Olmsted was hostess to the Ludlow Ladies' Aid on Wednesday afternoon at a luncheon served at the Pittsfield Inn. Mrs. Robert E. Wenstran, president, conducted the business meeting. Mrs. C. W. Evans was welcomed as a new member. It was decided that the Aid will work at the Red Cross rooms as a group the Tuesday following each meeting.

The American Legion Auxiliary was entertained on Tuesday evening, the ninth, by Mrs. M. I. Jones at her home. The meeting was led by the president, Mrs. L. B. Connelly and the usual business meeting was held. Plans were made for the annual birthday dinner which will be held as a tureen at the home of Mrs. Silas Johnson in June. The hostess served lunch at the close of the evening.

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day. When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up at night, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes show there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

It was announced that the honor roll will be completed by Memorial Day. It is to be painted and decorated with a gold eagle. There are one hundred and seventy-two names on it at present. The Legion has made plans for Memorial Day services to be held at the cemetery with the Reverend Robert E. Olson of Coatesville as speaker.

The Community directors held their monthly meeting on Friday evening. It was decided to ask members of the Park Association and anyone else interested to work at the park on Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, the 16 and 17, as there is much to be done.

Mrs. Adolph Johnson has announced the need for Red Cross workers as there is a new shipment of bandages urgently needed by the Red Cross.

The Senior Girl Scouts held their regular meeting on Tuesday evening, the ninth, with Mrs. Walter Cox and Mrs. Melvin McCleary in charge. The girls are giving finishing touches to U.S.O. books before sending them on to the Inspection Committee. A committee was also appointed to make plans for a party to be held in the near future.

Plans are going forward for the Junior-Senior banquet with Miss Catherine Mary Bellucci, class adviser, and Miss Carol Carr, class president, busy with details. The dinner is to be followed by a theater party.

SECRETARY FORRESTAL

President Roosevelt's appointment of James V. Forrestal as secretary of the navy is logical and commendable, is the opinion of James Thrasher in an editorial written for NEA Service, Inc., and the Times-Mirror.

It has given the country assurance that the Navy's winning combination will not be broken up. With the experience and capable Mr. Forrestal at the helm, there is every reason to believe that Navy operations will proceed according to present plans, and with a minimum of disturbance arising from a shift in the top job.

As undersecretary, Mr. Forrestal did a vitally important job, and did it well. It was up to him to see that the Navy got ships, guns and planes in a hurry, after the crippling blow at Pearl Harbor. He was in charge of contract renegotiation, and had a large part in planning for reconversion to civilian production.

Mr. Forrestal is a Democrat, and that's about the whole story of his political activity. One of those rare creatures, an ardent Rooseveltian from Wall street, he left the presidency of a big investment firm to become one of the President's administrative assistants. In that job he cultivated his natural "passion for anonymity."

This served him well in his former Navy post, where it kept him on the job and out of the spotlight. He gets on well with other businessmen, with the Navy's top officers, and with War Department colleagues.

In fact, there is only one discordant note in this chorus of approbation; disappointment at Mr. Forrestal's outspoken opposition to the proposal that our military, naval and air forces be administered after the war by a single department. It is particularly disappointing since it was clear from Admiral King's report to Secretary Knox that such combined operations, born of necessity, are already a practical accomplishment.

Both the Army's support of this proposal and the Navy's objection seem quite clear. The Army obviously wants the move started while the Army is big. The Navy would like to see action postponed until peace, when seapower, the traditional "first line of defense," will be the dominant force.

Both branches seem a little fearful of an independent, equal air force.

The chances are good, however, that Congress will eventually create the single department. The House Committee on Postwar Military Policy, before which Mr. Forrestal raised his objections, was not formed to railroad the measure through in a hurry. Its name indicates that much. Congress certainly won't tamper with administrative structure on the road to victory.

For that reason it seems too bad that the able new secretary should get mixed up now in the old professional Army-Navy feud, from which a civilian head might better keep aloof.

It'll be a great day in May when the Warren County Red Cross chapter ships the 45,000 surgical dressings expected of them. Month by month the quotas have been filled by loyal women who gave their time to this all important war job. The medical men in the service are grateful for each dressing that they must use in their heart-breaking work. You wouldn't knowingly keep a soldier from being properly armed in combat. Don't deprive him of the surgical dressings that he may require when wounded in battle. It's a woman's war too and this is the way you can help.

An announcement that will cause considerable regret is made today in an item stating that William L. Parmelee, capable and obliging physical director at the YMCA for the past two years, is leaving Warren the first of June. Since coming here Mr. Parmelee has endeared himself, not only to patrons of the "Y" but all with whom he came in contact. We wish Mr. Parmelee and his family continued happiness and success.

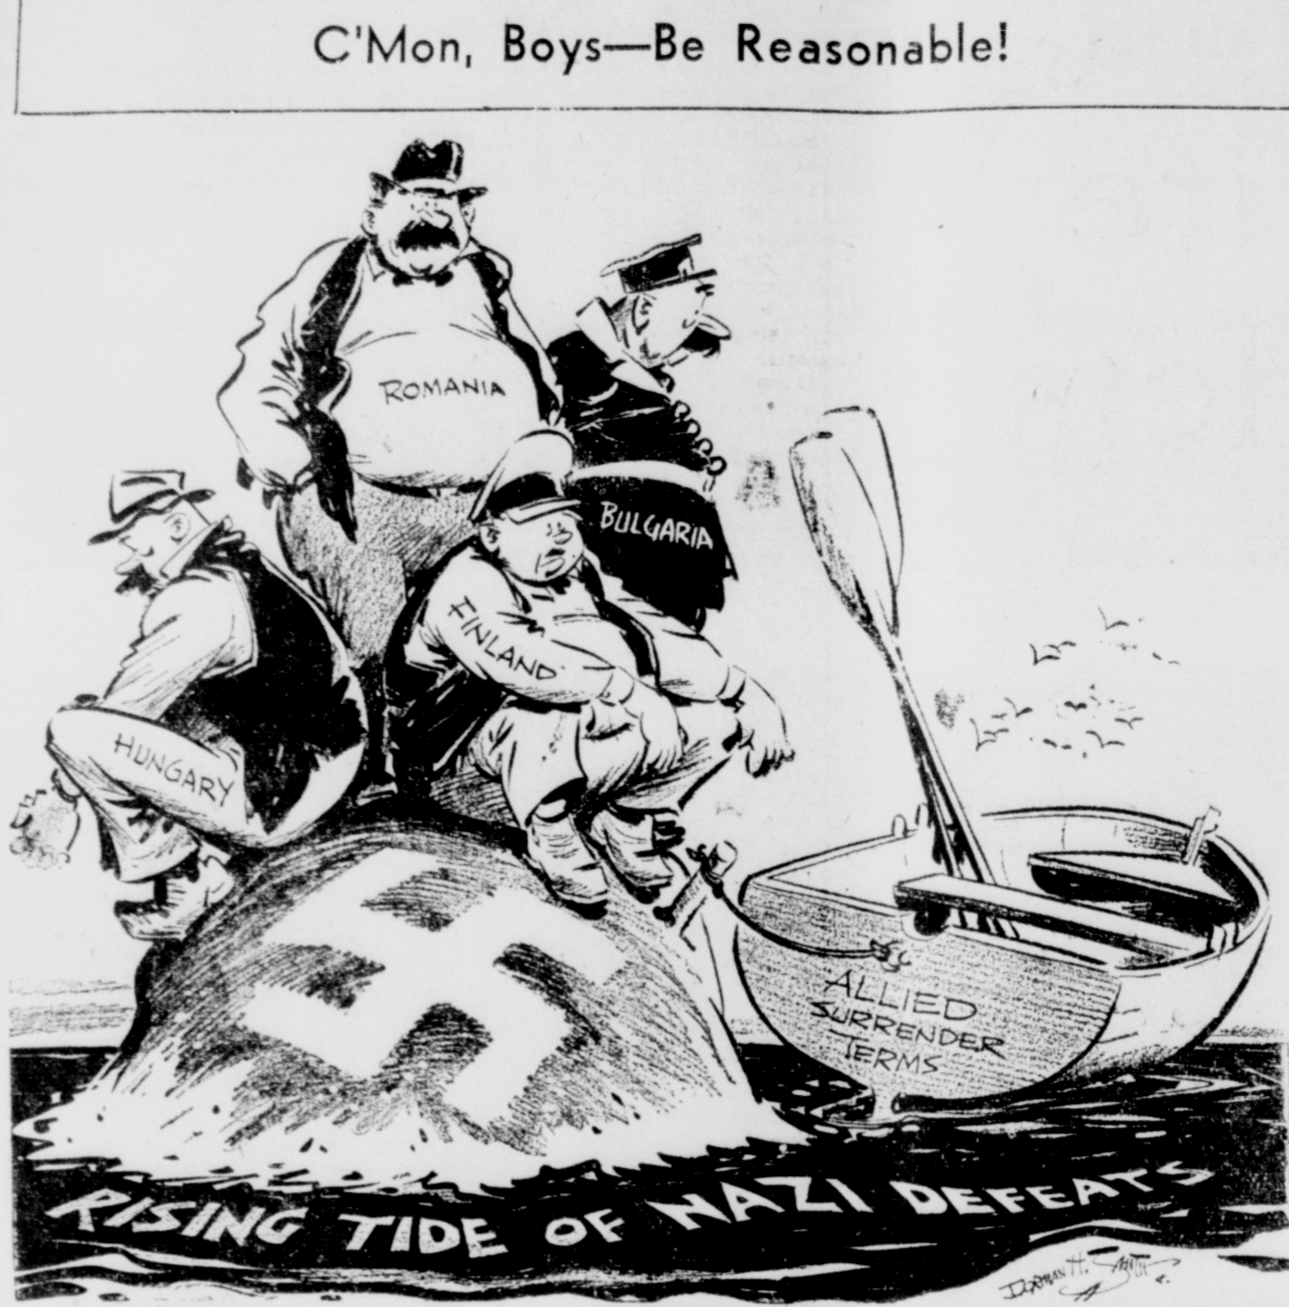

The death of Charles McNett at Clarendon Wednesday removes another old and substantial resident of the county who did not confine his interests to his home community. He was not only the oldest fire chief in Pennsylvania, but ranked among the best in the state, a fact which is attested to by his high standing among volunteer departments in towns much larger than Clarendon.

The money you make doesn't do you near as much good as the money you put into War Bonds.

T-H-O-U-G-H-T-S

He that hath knowledge spareth his words.—Proverbs 17:27.

Silence is sometimes the severest criticism.—Buxton

Washington in Wartime

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON — Some administration stalwarts are admitting—off the record, of course—that they are considerably perturbed about the criticisms being tossed at several war agency chiefs.

Most of these criticisms, at the moment, have to do with manpower, the food production and distribution programs, and rationing.

Outstanding example is the recent announcement of OPA Director Chester Bowles that all points are off on all meats but steaks and roasts. This, coming on the heels of reduction of butter from 16 to 12 points a pound and the lifting of the rationing on shortening and many processed or canned vegetables, gave the impression that the lifting of all rationing might be just around the corner.

At the same time, OPA announced that points allowable for meats and other red stamp products would be available from now on only at the rate of 30 points for each four weeks, instead of 60. The full import of this didn't hit the public immediately, but it did strike administration critics between the eyes.

ON THE floor of Congress, it was asserted that the new point allowance made butter, choice cuts of beef, and rationed cheese cost just twice as many points as before. Families who formerly got their 12-point a pound butter out of 30 points per person per fortnight are now going to have to get the same butter out of 15 points per person for every two weeks. Beef eaters, who formerly could eke their points out over a period to satisfy their craving for good red meat, now find they have only half as many points to play with.

Unless OPA was off the beam entirely, this is exactly what it intended. The announcement might very well have read: "We are taking all rationing off certain red stamp non-scarcity articles for the time being; and doubling the point value of those still being rationed."

ADDING to the confusion was a recently published article in a national magazine over Chester Bowles' by-line in which he predicted that many of the processed foods and meats wouldn't be free of rationing until after Germany, at least, is defeated and perhaps not until after the war in the Pacific is over.

Actually, according to government officials and others not involved in the fracas, the confusion arises more from mishandling of public pronouncements than in policies pursued.

One good point of our rationing law is its flexibility. Shortages or surpluses arising today can be taken care of within a few hours by tightening point-values here, lifting them there.

Buried in the Bowles announcement of the lifting of some meat rationing was the warning that this might only be for a few months. If the word "temporary" had been written into the first sentence, much of the present criticism might have been avoided.

out of 15 points per person for every two weeks. Beef eaters, who formerly could eke their points out over a period to satisfy their craving for good red meat, now find they have only half as many points to play with.

Unless OPA was off the beam entirely, this is exactly what it intended. The announcement might very well have read: "We are taking all rationing off certain red stamp non-scarcity articles for the time being; and doubling the point value of those still being rationed."

ADDING to the confusion was a recently published article in a national magazine over Chester Bowles' by-line in which he predicted that many of the processed foods and meats wouldn't be free of rationing until after Germany, at least, is defeated and perhaps not until after the war in the Pacific is over.

Stamp News

RUSSIA commemorated the 125th anniversary of the birth of its great poet-novelist Ivan Sergeyevich Turgenev last year with two stamps which have just reached this country. Both stamps, a 30-kopek and a 60-kopek picture Turgenev and bear the inscription "Above All Justice, The Free Russian Language." Turgenev, born in 1818, turned to prose after first attempting poetry and the drama. He is credited with being the first Russian author to be read and admired in Europe. He died in 1883.

TRIBUTE to a lost cause and a fighting force that possibly no longer exists is paid by a set of four semi-postal stamps issued last year by Croatia, once a part of Yugoslavia and now one of Germany's Balkan satellites. Designed by a Swiss philatelic publication, the stamps honored the Croatian Legion recruited by Hitler to bolster Nazi forces invading Russia. Each stamp carries the name of one of the Russian battlefronts where the Legion presumably saw action—at Stalingrad, the Sea of Azov, the Don river and Savastopol.

TWO additions to Spain's Holy Year set of stamps, issued last year, and a new commemorative marking the 1,000th anniversary of the founding of the ancient Spanish Kingdom of Castile have been received on covers from Spain. The new Holy Year stamps, making a total of six known thus far to have been issued, picture sections of church or cathedral columns. Their values and colors are 20-centimos rose and 75-c blue.

The Castile commemorative is a 40c violet brown picturing the coat of arms of former Kingdom. Isabella, sponsor of Christopher Columbus' voyage that resulted in the discovery of America, was Queen of Castile before her marriage to Ferdinand and the Castilian dialect is the official language of Spain.

THE new three-cent steamship commemorative stamp to be issued May 22 will be placed on first-day sale at Kings Point, N. Y., as well as Savannah, Ga., the Post Office department has announced, while the telegraph commemorative, to be issued May 24, will go on first-day sale at Baltimore as well as Washington. Originally, the Post Office department had announced only Savannah and Washington as the sites for first release of the new stamps.

EXAMINATION of the 50-cent stamp issued by the Badoglio government for use in southern Italy reveals the curious fact that its watermark is identical with the "honeycomb" watermark used on Danzig stamps of 1921-22 (Scott's 49-74). The stamps which recently arrived in this country, also are on gummed paper. The violet and flesh-colored stamp pictures the statue of the wolf suckling Romulus and Remus and was lithographed in Naples. It went on sale at Bari early in February.

GERMAN occupation authorities in the Netherlands have withdrawn from circulation all stamps portraying Queen Wilhelmina, according to the Netherlands Information Bureau. Also withdrawn were the William the Silent commemorative issue of 1933 (Scott's 196-99) and four values of the 1928-29 airmail issues.

DATES of two major philatelic meetings have been set, with the Society of Philatelic Americans planning its golden jubilee meeting at Chicago, Aug. 10-13 and the American Philatelic Congress listing its tenth session at Philadelphia Dec. 1-3. The annual "Chipeex" stamp exhibition, sponsored annually at Chicago by the Central Federation of Stamp Clubs, will be held at the S.P.A. meeting and collectors desiring to enter exhibits should communicate with Alfred Diamond, 58 West Washington street, Chicago.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

New Version of an Old American Tradition

We were sitting on Ed Carey's porch, enjoying a friendly glass of beer, when a squadron of fighter planes goes over—in tight formation—swift and trim and powerful.

"There," says Ed proudly, "goes an American tradition." "What do you mean, tradition?" Eben Crowell says. "America's a hundred sixty years old—flying's the newest thing there is."

"But those planes," says Ed, "they're the best in the world—the best made and the best flown. That's what I mean by an American tradition: making things, doing things, just a little better, whether it's an airplane or a railroad or a glass of fine American beer like this."

And from where I sit, Ed has put his finger on what makes America great—and will keep her great. The urge to do things just a little better—from the planes we make to the glass of beer that we enjoy. Things to be proud of—all of them!

GOOD SEALS HELP TO STOP CANNING FAILURES
Many difficulties that home-makers encountered in their canning last year were due to war-time jars, lids, and rubbers. Manufacturers have been studying problems brought to their attention and offer some suggestions on using canning equipment successfully.

Occasionally a metal lid with composition rubber ring attached is too large for the screw band. Before using, slip the metal lid into the screw band to see if the lid fits in tightly. If the lid is too large, the screw band won't exert the same amount of pressure on all parts of the jar edge and a perfect seal won't be made.

Commercial jars, such as those used for salad dressing or peanut butter, may be used for canning fruits and tomatoes. These jars do not have a wide shoulder as regular jars for canning have so will not hold in place a rubber ring and zinc top lid. The edge seal lids, such as the metal lid with rubber rings attached or the three-piece cover with glass lid, small rubber ring, and metal screw band, should be used.

The prevent screw bands from rusting during storage, remove them from the jars 12 to 24 hours after the jars have cooled. By removing the bands, the lids also can be tested to see if a good seal was made.

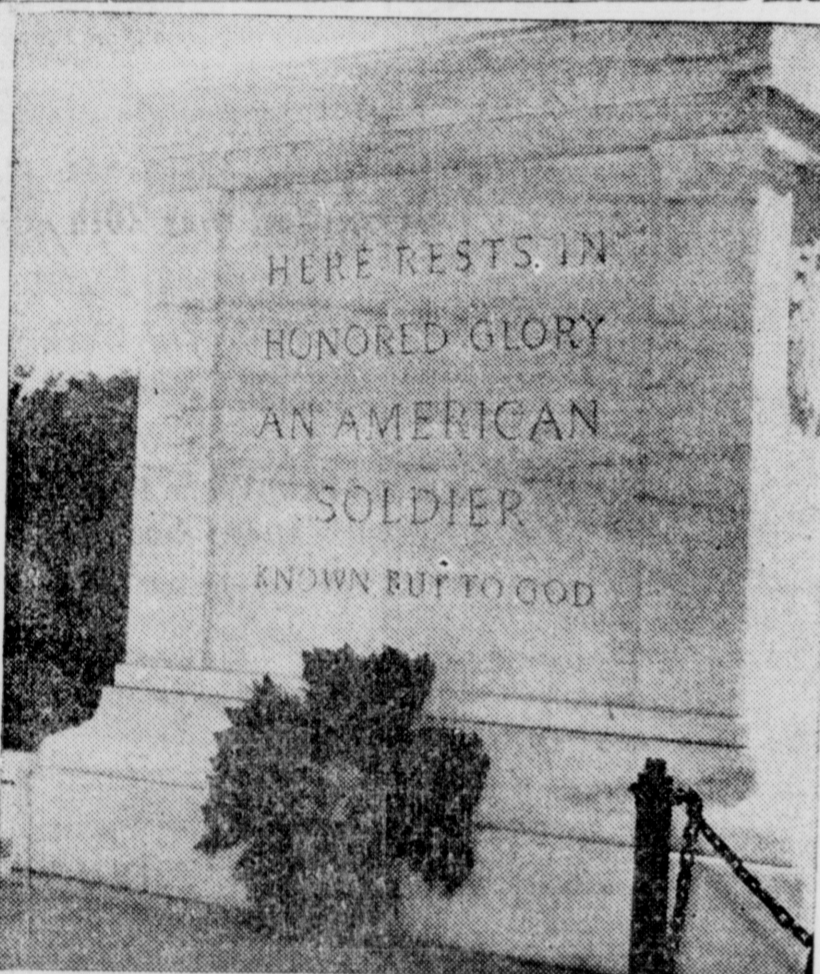

Filling jars too full is another cause for poor seals. Pint jars should be filled to within one inch from the top. If jars are too full, the food may run over the neck of the jar and prevent an edge seal type of lid from sealing. Always wipe off carefully the neck of the jar with a clean cloth before putting on the lid. Small particles of food on the top of the jar may prevent a perfect seal.

Another complaint from home-makers is that rubber rings used last year gave foods an odor. To prevent an occurrence of that this year, it is suggested that the rubber rings be scrubbed with a brush in hot soapy water. Then for each dozen rings add a teaspoon of soda to a quart of water. Then for each dozen rings add a tablespoon of soda to a quart of water and boil the rings 10 minutes in solution. Rinse well before using. Start with fresh soda and water for each lot of rings.

The aim of the 23rd annual nation-wide sale of Buddy Poppies by the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the U. S. is highly dramatized in this picture of the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier in Arlington Cemetery. The V. F. W. emblem, at the base of the Tomb, is composed of Buddy Poppies which were fashioned by the hands of disabled veterans of the first World War and the present conflict.

on your precious hard-to-replace linens!

CLOROX lessens rubbing... prolonging life of fabrics... it is ULTRA-REFINED... free from caustic, an exclusive patented quality-feature!

HERE'S a helpful hint for making white and color-fast cottons and linens last longer during these times of shortages... a method followed by millions of housewives. It's simply this... include Clorox in the regular laundering process. For Clorox is extra-gentle in bleaching... efficient in restoring white cottons and linens to their lovely whiteness (brightens fast colors, too). Clorox is free from caustic, mild in action... it lessens rubbing, lets fabrics last longer.

WHY TAKE CHANCES?
When it's CLOROX-CLEAN it's hygienically clean!

And Clorox is valuable in another important way. It helps protect family health by providing sanitation in laundering, and in routine cleansing of kitchen and bathroom "danger zones." It also removes stains and deodorizes. Clorox is the choice of millions... it's pure, safe, dependable, concentrated for economy. Clorox has the same full strength, the same high quality standards, today as always. Make it your choice... be sure to ask for Clorox by name. Simply follow directions on the label.

Phantom Decks

Tankers, because they ride so low when loaded, until this war never transported deck cargoes.

Today, through so-called PHANTOM DECKS, American tankers can carry not only assembled or boxed airplanes but also the fuel to fly them.

Supporting the cargo well above the regular deck, "phantom decks" are welded frames made to fit each type of cargo.

In this way, planes, trucks, and PT boats are made fast, out of the way, and safe from heavy seas. A Tanker's "phantom deck" carried the PT Boat which MacArthur later used to escape from the Philippines.

A FIGHTING MAN ONCE SAID---

A famous fighting man once said, "Full speed ahead and damn the torpedoes." That is the attitude that marks the path to victory. If you can apply the same idea to the completion of the 45,000 surgical dressing quota for May, another step will be taken toward winning the war. There are many times when household tasks seem more important, but don't let them be. The jobs that help the war effort should have first consideration. Surgical dressings must be available in all theatres of war. The Warren County Chapter of the American Red Cross needs your help now.

ELEANOR CONARRO HAS ROLE IN DRAMA

According to a special dispatch received today from Endicott Junior College at Prine's Crossing, Mass., Miss Eleanor Conarro, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Conarro, 310 West Fifth avenue, played one of the leading roles in "The Black Ace", mystery-comedy by Kurtz Gordon, when the production was presented in the college workshop last week.

Miss Conarro is prominent in college affairs, is on the Dean's List for the period ending April 22, is photography editor of "Mingotide", the college year book.

ALL INVITED TO YWCA "GAME NIGHT"

Taking the place of its customary "at home" for the month of May, the special evening game night at the YWCA on Friday is expected to attract a large group. Both men and women are invited for an informal program beginning at eight o'clock.

On the welcoming committee for the event are Mr. and Mrs. Carl Lundahl, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Alexander and Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Plummer. As with the "at homes", there is no charge for the game night, its purpose being to get better acquainted and to have fun.

POST-AUXILIARY DANCING PARTY

Members of the American Legion Post and Auxiliary are reminded that hours for their final dancing party at the Legion Home on Friday night are nine to twelve and that Jerry McCune's Orchestra will provide the music. By necessity, attendance is limited to members of the two organizations, with their ladies and escorts. Another feature of the program will be refreshments served by Mrs. Larry Krespan and her committee.

LEGION AUXILIARY HAS FINE CARD PARTY

The American Legion Auxiliary sponsored a very successful benefit card party on Tuesday evening, prizes being awarded to the following: Miss Mary Mills, contract; Mrs. Maude Bright, auction; Mrs. Hattie McCartney and Henry Honhart, five hundred; Henry Hunzinger, Jeff Kline and Miss Barbara Dennison, duplicate.

BEREAN CLASS

The regular meeting of the First Baptist Berean Class scheduled for Friday evening has been postponed until next week. Announcement will be made later concerning the exact plans.

DORCAS SOCIETY

Members of the Grace Methodist Dorcas Society will meet in the Epworth League room at 6:15 p. m. Friday for a tureen supper and annual meeting. All members are asked to be on hand.

McCLINTOCK UNIT ELECTS OFFICERS

The final meeting of the McClintock PTA was held at the school building for election of the following officers for the coming year: Mrs. Shannon Wilson, president; Mrs. Richard Harrison, vice president; Mrs. John Cichonol, secretary; Miss Ruth Hinderer, treasurer. It was decided to hold an ice cream social June 2.

Miss Frances Ekey spoke to the group about the dental work that is being carried on at the camps where our soldiers are located and showed a film on the growth and development of children's teeth. Mrs. Bova and her committee served lunch at the close of the program.

DETAIL FOR TODAY Owl

An OWL is a soldier who stays up after lights are out and reads or writes letters, aided by a flashlight. If his bunkmate is easily irritated he may complain about the scratching of the pen or the turning of the pages. This is a signal for the whole barracks to chime in and soon the OWL is shamed into calling it a day—or retreating beneath his blankets to resume his project. The most annoying thing about OWLS is that they always knock over some heavy object when everyone else is just about asleep, or take off their shoes and drop them, one by one, on the floor.

WESTVIEW CEMETERY MEETING

Dinner Marks Anniversary Of Local Theatre Manager Here

George C. Sarvis, popular manager of Library theater was given tribute last evening by a group of friends on the occasion of his 30th Anniversary of coming to this city. The affair had been arranged by Warner Brothers under whose management Library and the Columbia theaters in Warren are operated by Mr. Sarvis.

The affair took the form of a dinner served at the Marconi Outing Club at which Mr. Sarvis was presented with a handsomely engraved watch as a token of his popularity among his friends.

Following the dinner cards and other amusements were enjoyed. Among those present were "Jim" Totman, Publicity Director of the Pittsburgh District for Warner Brothers; Frank Brown, of the Titusville Theater; Charles Smith, of the Brookville theater; Bob Bowman, of Warners theater in Erie; Lee Sutter, of Oil City; Thomas Fordham, of Warner Brothers, Pittsburgh; Bob Bloom, of the sound department USNR; H. D. Putnam and E. J. Lesser, of the local theater projection department and others from Warren.

Mr. Sarvis came to Warren from New York City and he recalled last evening that C. A. Berger, of the Times-Mirror was the first person with whom he conversed after coming to Warren. He had been contracted to sing at the Columbia theater in Warren and arrived here and could not locate the theater which was then known as the Herald, having just been purchased two days previously by the Columbia Amusement Company. He related many interesting anecdotes of his experiences in Warren and the evening proved a delightful affair.

Metzger-Wright Chinaware Buyer Has Long Experience

Twenty-five years ago, there came to Metzger-Wright Company who is now celebrating its forty-eighth birthday, a man who has become one of the best known Chinaware buyers in the country. His name is L. C. LeVan.

In the twenty-five years Mr. LeVan has been buyer of chinaware, housefurnishings, and appliances he has seen many changes. In the appliance department he has watched the development of the electric refrigerator from its beginning when only a few were fortunate to own one, to now when there are very few who do not; the washing machine with its old wooden cylinder that needed much care, to the modern Bendix that does everything but iron the clothes, the large gas heated ironer to the present day electric one that is so compact it can be kept in the kitchen; the old cumbersome ranges to the present day one that cook the meal when one is away having it ready for serving at a set time. These and many other changes have been made during his years with these departments.

Coming to Metzger-Wright's from the Clark Hardware in Jamestown, he brought with him his years of experience with various hardware stores throughout the country including the Pickett Hardware Company in Warren where in 1905 he was assistant manager under Henry Stillwell. He was one of the first honor club members, having been made member in 1932.

Army Carefully Checks Men Out For Return To Civvies And Jobs

AP Features
DISCHARGED soldiers are getting out of the Army exactly as they got into it — only backwards. At the first World War II Separation Center at Fort Dix, N. J., soldiers are being discharged in a 48-hour reversal of the induction procedure, planned to help them find satisfactory niches in civilian life.

1. First step in becoming a veteran of World War II is taken by Pvt. Richard W. Turnbull, 28, of Garrettsville, N. Y., who came from New Caledonia to Fort Dix. Here he hands in his Army records for study by skilled staff.

2. Pvt. Turnbull turns in his excess equipment to the supply sergeant. Then he's given a check list of questions relating to his work, schooling and financial problems, and is urged to get all problems off his mind.

3. Medical examination is next. If anything is found wrong, the soldier is hospitalized until he's cured and finally discharged.

4. The Major's signature on his Certificate of Honorable Discharge changes Pvt. Turnbull into Mr. Turnbull. He plans to work on a farm.

5. Before collecting first part of his mustering out pay, $100, the soldier discusses future plans, aptitudes with interviewers. Not all soldiers want their old jobs, because of disability or personal preferences.

6. With his discharge paper in his pocket, Pvt. Turnbull catches the bus for Trenton on first lap of his trip home. Recommendations made for his guidance at the Separation Center will help him find the right job.

Washington Girl Will Soon Marry Lt. Wilson Brydon

Mr. and Mrs. Philip M. Ennis, of Washington, D. C., announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Janet Ennis, to Lt. Wilson Brydon, with the Army Air Forces and son of Mrs. Helen E. Brydon, of Warren. The wedding will take place in June.

Miss Ennis attended American University and West Virginia Wesleyan, receiving her bachelor of arts degree from the latter in 1943. She was a member of Sigma Delta Chi Sorority. She was formerly with the Washington Evening Star, but is now a reporter for the Washington News Service.

Lt. Brydon graduated in 1939 from St. Petersburg College, where he majored in music and drama, receiving keys from each department for outstanding performances. In Warren, he will be remembered for his activities in Warren Players Club and with his own dance band. He enlisted in the air corps and entered service in February, 1942, receiving his wings and commission at the single engine school at Craig Field, Ala. In April, 1943, with an above-average rating, at present he is on duty at Randolph Field, San Antonio, Tex. Upon completion of his course at Central Instructors School there, he will be stationed at Gunter Field, Ala.

Mothers Honored In Special Party By Dorcas Class

Dorcas Class members of the First Lutheran church entertained with a pleasant party in the social rooms Wednesday evening to honor their mothers and the mothers of men and women of the congregation in the armed services.

There were more than 80 persons present for a program in charge of Mrs. E. K. Rogers. Opening with a short devotional period, the program continued with a Mother's Day play, "Her Day", given by the forget-me-not patrol of Troop 19, Girl Scout unit recently instituted and sponsored by the class. Those taking part were Katie Ann Thomas, Peggy Henderson, Betty Moore, Janie Rogers, Maxine Weid, Ellen Henderson and Becky Keim.

The women's chorus sang two selections and Mrs. H. A. Rindard told very interestingly of many of her experiences as an army chaplain's wife. There followed an informal period in which various mothers told of news of their boys in service.

To conclude, refreshments were served by Mrs. Lloyd Rapp and her committee, with Mrs. Rindard and Mrs. Rogers presiding. The table was attractively decorated by Mrs. Floyd Ahlquist.

DIAMOND MEETING

Diamond Grange held its regular meeting in the hall at Tiona with a memorial service for John Reiff following the brief business session. The following Mother's Day program provided the entertainment:

"The Me To Your Apron Strings" and "Mother", selections by a ladies' chorus; poems, "Mother" by Gladys Culbertson and "Try to be the Fellow Your Mother Thinks You Are" by Myrtle Strandburg; "Memories" and "I Want a Gal", by the entire group. Refreshments were served by a group of men concluding the evening.

Edwin Henry, of Clarendon, was admitted to Warren General Hospital Wednesday after he had crushed his right thumb while working at the Struthers-Weils plant.

Hollywood Gossip

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD — For several years now studios have been announcing, with pious air, that they were through with "B"—or low-budget—pictures. They obviously were kidding, though now indeed it appears that the number of such offerings on the altar of the double-feature policy will be reduced.

If it disappears entirely, audiences may suffer less—though some "B's" have topped in entertainment value their expensive "A" companions. At the same time, Hollywood will lose a training ground for talent.

And that comes from a toughened King of the B's newly graduated to better things, one Robert Paige. You'll never hear an actor say he's glad to be working in the B-hives. You'll hear plenty of them grouching over their fate when they do. The right producers don't see the B's, and one little B leads to another.

"BUT I'm glad I did time in them," says Bob Paige, who once made so many prison quickies he felt he was really doing time.

There was a time when Paige had so many B's tossed at him he finished 19 in as many months. He didn't like it. He longed to shake that B-dust and climb to the A-line with top roles in major movies. He has made it now—he's lead to Deanna Durbin in "Can't Help Singing"—so he can say: "Thanks for all those B movies—I hated 'em, but they put me where I am today!"

"Those B's are the movie counterpart of the old theatrical stock companies," he says. "You seldom hear of a stage actor starting his career on Broadway. No, he first spent years in stock, playing a different role every week. It was tough schooling, but it paid off finally. . . ."

"IT'S true in the movies, too. Very few people start at the top and stay there. Oh, I know about Deanna, but she's different. As a B-actor I worked plenty hard and plenty long hours, often an average of 12 hours a day straight through a picture. I played parts I didn't like. And I often was plenty burned when I saw some other fellow walk into a big part I felt sure I could play myself. In those days I knew I was ready for anything. Now I know that I wasn't. I had five years in the B's—I think every actor needs at least two."

Paige was ready, apparently, when Robert Cummings rebelled at doing "Fired Wife." Paige clicked, and went on to get this role opposite Universal's princess. So next time you suffer through a bad B, have a heart for the actor—maybe he's working up to a job with Bette Davis or Hedy Lamarr.

Plan All-Summer Planting to Keep Victory Garden Soil Producing

A well studied Victory garden plan should provide for these points:

- 1—An all-season harvest, so far as possible, of all the vegetables grown.
- 2—Production of an abundance of very crisp without wasteful surplus, which consume space and work which could be devoted to seeded crops.
- 3—Continuous occupation of the land, so that a maximum yield for the space occupied is produced.

To prepare such a plan, a study should first be made to determine what vegetables the family will eat and put up for the winter. Don't grow crops which your family refuses to use.

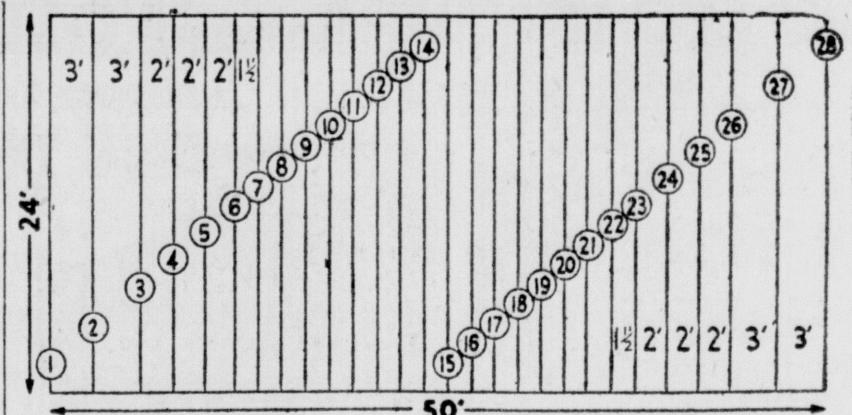

Next, decide on the quantity of each vegetable needed, and the garden space required to produce it.

Finally, for all which have a short harvest, total production must be divided into several sowings, so timed that one harvest will follow another, as the first is used up, or its quality falls off.

Data for these calculations have been given in this series, and the practical application of them is illustrated in the plan which accompanies this article, and the planting schedule which follows.

Do not copy this plan and schedule, but make your own, based on conditions in your garden and your own family preferences. In making any plan, adjustments are always necessary, with a little more of one crop sown here, a little less of another there, in order to make each row a complete row, and keep the ground occupied all season.

So far as horticultural events can be forecast, this garden will produce a continuous harvest all season, of the family's favorite vegetables, without waste surplus or avoidable scarcity, and no space unoccupied for long.

The garden for which this plan was made has a picket fence on the north, east and west sides, and is open to the south. It enjoys full sun all day, is fairly level and well drained. Here is the schedule:

Row 1—Cucumbers trained on fence.

Row 2—Swiss chard, harvest all season.

Row 3—Parsnips, all season.

Row 4—Egg plant, 12 plants, all season.

Row 5—Peas, follow with rutabagas, for fall harvest.

Row 6—Carrots, follow with green beans for fall.

Row 7—Leaf lettuce, follow with onion sets, for late green onions.

Row 8—Green beans, follow with carrots, for fall.

Row 9—Endive, early sowing.

Row 10—Beets, follow with leaf lettuce, for fall.

Row 11—Onion sets, follow with endive, for fall.

Row 12—Turnips, follow with Chinese cabbage.

Row 13—Wax beans, follow with beets, for fall.

Row 14—Carrots, June sowing.

Row 15—Green beans, June sowing.

Row 16—Leaf lettuce, May sowing, follow with turnips for fall.

Row 17—Bush lima beans.

Row 18—Beets, June sowing.

Row 19—Salsify, grow all season.

Row 20—Spanish or Bermuda onion plants, set 50 plants early.

Row 21—Carrots, May sowing.

Row 22—Parsley, all season.

Row 23—Peppers, 12 plants, all season.

Row 24—New Zealand spinach, all season.

Row 25—Peas. Sow early, follow with Brussels sprouts, for fall.

Row 26—Kale. Sow early for all season.

Row 27—Broccoli. Sow or set out 12 plants early, grow all season.

Leaders Will Train At Girl Scout Camp

Camp Birdsall Edey will be completely filled this weekend of May 19 through 21 when Girl Scout leaders from a 60-mile radius will gather for a short period of training.

This training, under the chairmanship of Mrs. H. G. Stahl, has received the blessing of the national Girl Scout organization. Mrs. Stahl received a letter from Mrs. Ronald Leslie, regional director, as follows:

"Dear Mrs. Stahl, I am delighted to hear of your plan for inviting nearby councils to join you in a weekend training session at Camp Birdsall Edey. You have no idea how much the Regional staff appreciated your making this training available to those councils in your vicinity. It has been impossible for us to reach all our small councils this year and we are very conscious of their needs. We are most grateful for your cooperation in helping to meet this need.

"I discussed this plan in some detail with Mrs. Correll when we were in Lewistown and told her that we would let her have a list of those councils who were without traveling distance. If you would like us to do so we can also send from this office announcement of the training to the commissioners and urge that they take advantage of it.

"If we can be of any help to you, do let us know. Please accept our sincere thanks and congratulations for this fine piece of regional cooperation and service.

Most sincerely,
Mrs. Ronald Leslie."

Leaders from St. Marys, Ridgeway, Oil City, Tionesta, West Hickory, Titusville, and Jamestown, N. Y., in addition to local persons, are registered for the training session.

LADY IN A WHIRL

By Esther Valck Georgens

Chapter 8

HE man turned his head, which was adorned with a remarkably luxuriant growth of hair and whiskers, and regarded the woman and her companions. Then he looked up in the cart and the woman saw, to their relief, that he was clothed from the waist down in a pair of ragged trousers. After each exhortation and cracking of the whip, he got the oxen to the stable, and Zeldia managed to get by. He made them a courtly bow as they passed.

"Can you imagine," Cora said, "he's been here for years. I used to see him when I came up near to your mother when you were baby. He was a young man then. Just out of college."

"He's not bad looking," Zeldia said.

"No. He had some funny notions. I remember. He wouldn't eat any meat. And he had a funny name. I've forgotten it."

A few minutes later they reached the cottage. Sam and Eglantine, who had seen the cart approaching, were on the steps to greet them.

"My, you've got it looking nice today," Zeldia told them as she entered the house.

While Cora went to the kitchen to see about lunch, Zeldia wandered around the place. There was a wide porch that ran around the sides of the cottage, with steps leading up to a sun deck. The view was magnificent. Near every window framed a picture of distant mountain peaks and sun-speckled valleys.

As Zeldia gazed out over this scene, the ox cart horse went into the house. When they reached the way the beasts came to a leaved halt; the bearded driver jumped down and approached the house.

"Ah, a caller already. Well, Cora can entertain him," Zeldia called to herself and casually related.

After a while Cora came upstairs.

"Say, that man we passed was here. He stopped in to get acquainted. He's real nice."

"Did you find out his name?" Cora snickered. "It's Oh Be Thankful Duncan," she said.

"Goodness!"

"And the trooper O'Brien telephoned. He's going to stop in some afternoon."

"We're right in the social swing already, aren't we?" said Zeldia.

"And Sam says Pete called this morning and was worried when he found out we hadn't arrived yet. I'll call him back."

"Maybe we can lure him up here."

"Oh, he'll be up," Cora assured her. "He said he'd come."

THE week passed quietly. O'Brien paid them the promised visit, and Pete called every day from New York.

"We certainly are living a safe and sane life," Zeldia remarked one afternoon. She and Cora were sitting on the porch. Cora contentedly guzzling a chocolate milk.

"You know," said Cora, "a person needs a rest like this once in a while. I'm looking forward to a long, quiet summer."

"Oh, yes," said Zeldia after a minute, her brown eyes intent on a moving object down the mountain. "Here comes that nut again."

Cora pushed her glasses into place. "What nut?"

"Your boy friend. That Oh Be Thankful person."

Cora snorted. "He's no boy friend of mine—but anyway I don't think you ought to call him a nut. He's just slightly eccentric. I find him very interesting. You'd be surprised."

"You're the one who's going to be surprised," Zeldia interrupted. "No good comes of having anything to do with a man like that. He's not balanced. There's no telling what ideas he'll get into his head."

"Shucks!" scoffed Cora. "You do that! It will kill you! Put it down!"

Cora gaped at him in amazement. "It doesn't hurt me," she told him. "I don't take it. But some people do, I guess."

She added brightly, and squeezed one of the leaves between her fingers. "There's a big patch of it out in the back."

"Yes, yes," Oh Be Thankful hopped uneasily from one foot to the other. "I only have to look at it and in ten minutes I'm covered with it. Yes, I think I'd better go along."

He left, picking his way gingerly, feeling none too sure evidently that he wouldn't find a twig of the obnoxious plant in the pathway.

AS he climbed into his cart Zeldia came out. "So he's afraid of poison ivy, is he? And he doesn't believe in wearing clothes?"

"Poor fellow," said Cora. "He isn't at all bad looking."

"Be careful!" warned Zeldia, laughing. "I don't like the glint in his eye when he looks at you."

Cora blushed. "Don't be silly." But she had noticed the look in his eye herself.

Everyone was around early the next morning. It was several miles to the bus stop, and Zeldia was going to drive there, taking Sam and Eglantine that far too. A friend would bring them home that night.

When they had all departed Cora went back to bed for another little nap. Later in the morning she arose and got herself something to eat. She really enjoyed days alone. She loved to sleep and eat to excess and when Zeldia was away she could indulge in both without fear of a scolding.

She hummed happily as she cleared up the dishes and began to wash them. The creak of a loose board in the living room was the first intimation she had of a visitor. She dried her hands and went to investigate.

Oh Be Thankful Duncan stood in the middle of the living room.

"WHY, good morning," Cora said brightly. She searched her mind frantically for something more to say. She definitely did not like the looks of him. "Good morning," she repeated. "I suppose you've come to cut the grass."

Oh Be Thankful moved towards her. "No, indeed, my dear. I've come to see you."

Cora edged away—in the direction of the telephone. "Why, that's nice," she said. "I'm all alone at the moment but Miss Germaine will be back shortly. She just went down to the brook—to get some mint."

Cora considered this an especially happy invention. The only thing wrong with it was, it didn't work.

Oh Be Thankful advanced still closer. "Why, you little rogue," he smirked playfully. "You're trying to fool me. I know she went to Stockton today. Come on, now. Don't be shy. I've come to take you up to my place."

Cora was still striving to be polite. "Why, that'll be nice. I'd love to meet your wife," she told him.

Oh Be Thankful laughed heartily. "My wife!" he said. "My wife! Why, she left me years ago."

Cora made a wild dash for the telephone, but Oh Be Thankful seized her before she could reach it.

Hollywood Sights And Sounds

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—The important thing about James B. Cassidy is that he is going to color-film "Green Mansions," a property which for some reason despite its world-wide popularity has escaped the cameras. And yet I like to think of him, too, as the producer most likely to avert dyspepsia, ulcers, and other occupational hazards.

Cassidy is a husky, good-looking, pink-cheeked lad of 31—which makes him the youngest independent producer in the business—and he's the only producer I know who is a champion weight-lifter, so recognized last September by the American Weight-Lifting association and the A. A. U.

To dispose of that first, Cassidy says he undertook the weights as a time-saving exercise. "I found that a half-hour spent two or three times a week at it did me as much good as three hours of other kinds of exercise." He also believes in absorbing quantities of vitamins out as he asks us to forget that—people will think I'm a faddist, which I'm not—we wouldn't think of mentioning it except to pass on the information to those who want to be movie producers. Vitamins and weight-lifting, that's how.

OF COURSE it would help, as it did in Cassidy's instance, if you came from Springfield, Mass., majored in economics at Harvard, and tied in with a publishing company. Then, if your interest in books and movie rights sent you to Hollywood where you could look over the situation, as Cassidy did, that would be dandy. You'd have to raise some financial backing, of course, which Cassidy did or he wouldn't be talking about a $2,000,000 budget for "Green Mansions."

W. H. Hudson's novel once before was projected as a film, but nothing came of it. RKO planned it for Dolores del Rio, and it collected dust after Miss Del Rio left the studio. Then along came Cassidy, with a notion that a 1935 book that still sells 400,000 copies a year ought to make a popular movie—especially now when the Good Neighbor policy is to the fore.

Hudson is claimed by South America," he says, "as his own. He was born in Argentina of American parents, and later became a British subject. South Americans consider 'Green Mansions' their own book, so we may make the first important goodwill picture to come out of Hollywood. We have been assured of their cooperation, and we intend to shoot part of the film on location in South America. We feel a great responsibility in dealing with such a book. Now we have the technical devices to capture the story and its setting, and we feel that if we can capture Hudson on film we'll have one of the great pictures of all time."

THE letters are coming in from Hudson fans, and as usual concern casting. Fredric March, Ronald Colman and Walter Pidgeon are frequently mentioned for the role of Abel—in quest of his ideal—but the votes are going to some unknown to play Rima, the ethereal object of his love.

Maybe the vitamins and weight-lifting have something to do with it, but you don't often see a producer as enthusiastic as Cassidy.

READING & WRITING

BY Edwin Seaver AND Robin McKown

Vicki Baum has followed her immensely popular "Grand Hotel" with another novel about a German hostelry--"Hotel Berlin '43." Hotel Berlin, like its predecessor, has a varied assortment of fascinating guests, but things have changed radically under a war-torn Nazi regime.

The windowpanes are still shattered from the last air raid. The heavy brocade curtains have tears in them, and the stuffing is coming out of the deep luxurious chairs. But the hotel is still the best there is, and to it come people of high position, Rumanian officers, Nazi officials, famous actresses. To it also comes Martin Richter, underground leader, and there he is hidden in the deep wine cellars by two sympathetic French waiters.

On the walls of houses, on the cars of the crowded underground trains, there often appears a scrawl, "You can kill Richter--but you can't kill his spirit." Service crews go around and wipe it off; guards are posted to watch the exposed spots. But the next morning, there is the hand-writing again.

The influence which Martin Richter, who is a symbol of courage and freedom to the oppressed, has upon the residents of the hotel, is the main thread of Miss Baum's novel.

The Greeks of Homer's time, writes H. E. Jacobs, in "Six Thousand Years of Bread," were contemptuous of the Scythians, who ate oats like their horses. The Romans cherished the same contempt for the oat-eating Germans. And many centuries later, Samuel Johnson, in his famous English dictionary, defined oats as "food for men in Scotland, horses in England." To which, it is said, the indignant Scots replied, "England is noted for the excellence of her horses, Scotland for the excellence of her men."

The Book-of-the-Month Club announces that the selection for July will be "Joseph, the Provider," by Thomas Mann. This is the last volume of Mann's tetralogy about the life of Joseph.

Storekeepers in America's early days were somewhat indifferent to orderly inventories, Thomas D. Clark tells us, in "Pills, Petticoats and Plows." There is the story, for instance, of the merchant who couldn't find the handle to a pump he had ordered. In an impassioned letter, he informed the wholesale house that they had maliciously left him in the lurch. But before he could seal the letter a boy came in to say he had found the handle. Instead of destroying the letter and forgetting the matter, the storekeeper added the mildly apologetic postscript, "Never mind what I have said. We have found the darn thing," and sent it on.

Orval Grove Squares Account With New York Yankees With 4 to 0 Victory Wednesday

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer
It took Orval Grove a year to get even but the Chicago Sox righthander today has squared his debt with the New York Yankees, who broke his nine-game win streak and ruined his no-hit bid in 1943.

Grove became the first pitcher to shut out the New Yorkers when he blanked them 4-0 with five hits yesterday.

Last July, Grove had a no-hit-ter with two out in the ninth when Joe Gordon's double spoiled it, and a few weeks later the world champ ruined his attempt for a tenth straight victory.

Washington muffed a chance to go into a virtual tie for the American lead by bowing before Cleveland Vern Kennedy's four hit effort, 4-2. Jeff Heath with a double and two singles, and Oris Hockett with a triple and a pair of singles, sent Roger Wolff down for his first loss.

Buddy Hall's boot with the bases loaded cost Philadelphia's Athletics a 2-1 decision to Detroit much to the dismay of 25,535 Quaker City fans who were trying to root the A's home for their seventh straight.

Boston split two with the St. Louis Browns, winning 5-1, behind Tex Hughson's four-hit hurling but losing after a wild scramble in the finale, 12-8. Joe Cronin of the Red Sox became bench manager again, yielding first base to George Metkovich and appearing only as a pinch-hitter. By the split and Detroit's night win, the Sox plunged into the cellar.

Brooklyn might be last in the national of the Chicago Cubs weren't putting up such a strong defense, for the Dodgers tumbled into seventh position after bowing to Pittsburgh, 8-5. The Brooks, having a poor road trip, came up with four runs in the sixth to grab the lead but the Pirates rallied with four in their half for an 8-5 margin before rain forced them to call it a night. Tommy O'Brien's triple with the bases loaded was the game-winning poke.

The Braves continued to get top flight pitching as Red Barrett rocked the St. Louis Cardinals back on their heels with five blows for a 5-1 edge.

Bucky Walters turned from pitching to hitting and as a pinch batsman cracked a double that gave Cincinnati a 6-5 triumph over the Phils in a see-saw game called a moment after the hit in the eighth inning because of rain.

Joe Medwick and Danny Gardella paced the New York Giants attack on five Chicago tossers for a 10-6 margin in a free-hitting game.

Berry Chalks Up Fourth Win For Athletics

By BOB HOEMANN
Philadelphia, May 18.—(P)—Jonas Arthur "Jittery Joe" Berry walked into the Philadelphia Athletics' training camp—a complete stranger—one day this spring when the temperature was in the 30's.

He threw a couple of pitches and then cut loose with a curve ball. "There's my relief pitcher," said Connie Mack.

"A good one might mean the difference between the cellar and first division," one of the coaches remarked.

Today, the Athletics are up in the first division, and the league pitching averages show—"Berry, won 4, lost 1."

But the records don't tell the whole story. In his four victories Berry has pitched hitless ball—eight innings of it. In a game he saved for Don Black he gave the Yanks one hit in two innings. He looked bad just once, in his only loss, when he gave the Senators six in two.

"Jittery Joe," a resident of Huntsville, Ark., who confesses to be 38, has been knocking around the minors for 17 years. He had a trial with the Chicago Cubs after the 1942 season, when he won 18 games for Tulsa and had an earned run average of 1.88. But he was sent to Milwaukee where he won 18 last year. The A's bought him during the winter.

PONY LEAGUE

Buffalo, N. Y., May 18.—(P)—The Erie Sailors moved into first place in the Pony league last night as they defeated Bradford 4-3, 5-2 at both ends of a doubleheader.

Bradford opened well in the first game and led 2-1 until the seventh inning when the Sailors scored two and added a clincher in the ninth. The second game, scoreless until the seventh inning, was won for the Sailors by four runs in the eighth.

The Batavia Clippers nosed out the Wellsville Yankees 2-1 in a game that was called at the end of the eighth inning because of rain. A homer by Kronko, Batavia left fielder, provided the Clippers' margin of victory.

In the other games played last night, the Jamestown Falcons evened their series with the Olean Oilers by defeating them 6-5, and Hornell trounced Lockport 10-3, forcing the Cubs back into second place.

Today's games: Batavia at Bradford; Hornell at Jamestown; Olean at Lockport; Erie at Wellsville.

Should the Electoral College Be Abolished?

As debated by

Henry Hazlitt
Member Editorial Board,
New York Times

Dr. William Starr Myers
Professor of Political Science,
Princeton University

MR. HAZLITT OPENS: The Electoral College is not merely useless but mischievous. Under it, no matter how the popular vote of an individual state divides, the whole electoral vote of that state must be cast for the majority candidate. In 1940, though Willkie polled 3,027,478 votes in New York, and Roosevelt 3,351,918 Roosevelt received all 47 of that state's electoral votes. If these had been divided in the same proportion as popular votes, Roosevelt would have got only about 24 and Willkie nearly 23. The Electoral College system always distorts the popular verdict. In close races it has actually reversed the verdict. The system depends on accidents of an election make the outcome of an election depend on "pivotal" cities. It intensifies and prolongs sectionalism; it has made it pointless for a Republican to seek votes in Georgia or a Democrat in Maine. It has reduced the average size of our presidents by arbitrarily narrowing the field of choice to candidates from "doubtful" states. The Electoral College vote of each state should be divided in the same proportion as that state's popular vote. Better, the whole Electoral College system should be abolished.

DR. MYERS CHALLENGES: Mr. Hazlitt has given additional arguments for his suggested reform of the Electoral College. One can imagine what opportunities popular voting would have given the Vane machine in Philadelphia or old Tammany in New York to manipulate the returns so as to determine a close election throughout the nation. It must be remembered that the Electoral College is an added support to the integrity of the individual states, which is necessary if we are to prevent the United States from becoming a totalitarian nation. The Constitution is a bulwark of American institutions. It is not perfect, but should be adapted to changing times, not drastically changed, so that popular faith in and respect for it may be preserved.

MR. HAZLITT REPLIES: Professor Myers' proposal to vote for members of the Electoral College on the same basis as we choose Congressmen would be an immense improvement over the present system. But in a close race it could still reverse the popular verdict by defeating the candidate who received the majority of popular votes. Why not simply divide a state's electoral vote in the same ratio as its popular vote? And why go to all this trouble to preserve the Electoral College, which would nullify its purpose except to complicate matters? Bagehot's maxim is still sound: "Whatever is unnecessary in government is pernicious."

Must We Change Our Far Eastern Policy?

As debated by

James R. Young
Author of "Behind the Rising Sun" and "Manchurian Express"

John Goette
INS War Correspondent; Author of "Japan Fights For Asia"

MR. YOUNG OPENS: Let's have action—let's clean house in the State Department. We can win the battle of the Pacific, but we are not prepared to follow military successes with satisfactory diplomatic approaches. Diplomatically we gave China assurances at Cairo and Tehran, but the wisdom of these commitments have little faith in our commitments. Our abolition of extra-territorial rights in China resulted after years of pressure. A war brought us together. Finally we abolished the Immigration Exclusion Act. One blanket indictment of our foreign policy is the seeming refusal of certain members of the State Department to listen to more practical-minded protocol representatives who recognize the lack of diplomatic values in dealing with Japan. A change in foreign policy for the future requires removal of a half dozen men, obstacles to a streamlined diplomatic concept of the Far East. The American public in the past has been held as being uninterested in Far East policy; yet organized movements in 1938 showed the deepest concern. The State Department has set itself aside from the robustness of America, dislikes public criticism, cannot calculate future policy. An overcautious, timid attitude is hampering our future. Far East diplomatic relations. We must change NOW to firm declaration for future groundwork toward a powerful American policy in the Pacific.

MR. GOETTE CHALLENGES: Chiang Kai-shek on January 1, 1944, declared that he and President Roosevelt agreed on the handling of defeated Japan. Chiang Kai-shek claimed credit for the plan, which does not indicate a lack of faith in America. If "organized movements" in 1938 expressed concern, why was the 1940 election based partly on not sending American troops overseas; and why did Congress refuse to fortify Wake? Fortunately, unlike the dictators of the State Department does not direct our thinking. It can move only as national trends guarantee support. Japan was aggressive for ten years before Pearl Harbor forced the American people to accept war.

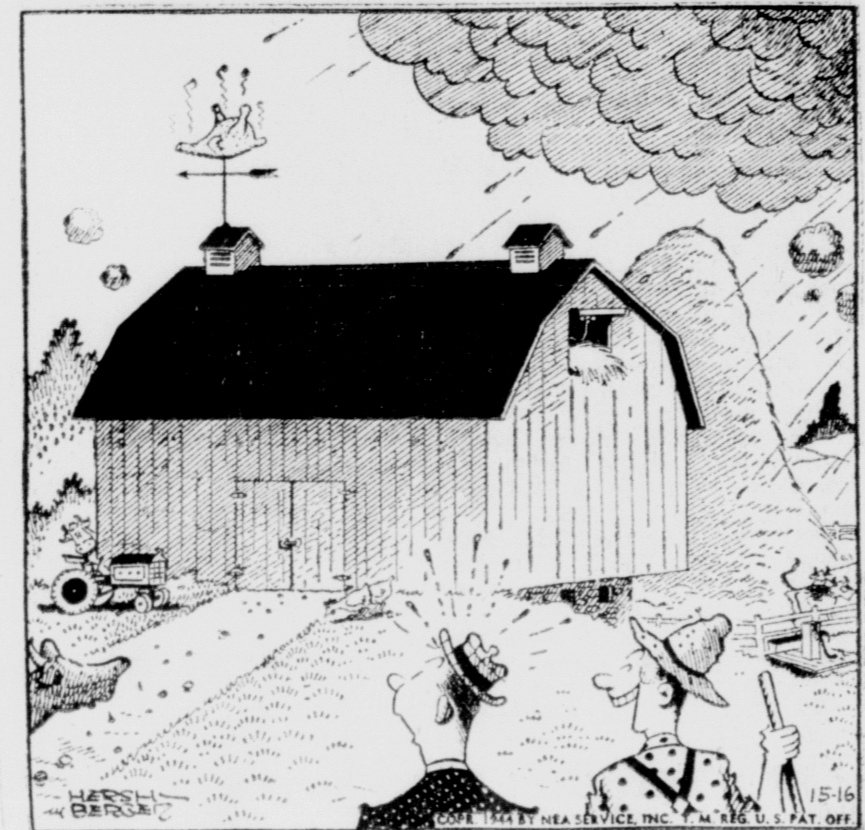

MR. YOUNG REPLIES: If Congress did not favor fortification of Pacific bases, foreign policy failed to support military needs. Secretary of State Stimson, in September, 1931, actually throttled newspapers in reporting Japan's Manchurian invasion. This policy aimed at appeasing Japanese "liberals" who our mentally frozen diplomats thought would control the militarists, and continued to December 7, 1941. Lack of Far East policy and an apparent inability to work one out is evident. Perhaps some of Mr. Hull's strategists are the "cheerful idiots" the President mentioned in his last broadcast. Expose NOW those who believe in preserving the Japanese emperor and who think "better treatment rather than harsh peace terms will sway the ruthless leaders now in control."

HIGHLY ATTRACTIVE

Warren today viewed the new order office of the Sears, Roebuck & Company with much approval. The new office was thrown open to the public today and hundreds have admired its arrangements and beauty. The designers achieved well in the store and its decorations and arrangements are admirable. The windows are also attractive and well arranged. Many pretty flowers adorned the store today and added to the beauty of the scene.

DISCOVERY OF BODY SOLVES COAST CRIME

Los Angeles, May 18.—(P)—A special police detail today guarded the cell of Jan Francis Sarazawski, 29, following recovery of the nude body of Mrs. Marian Berger, 42 year old housewife, from the Pacific ocean at Etna Beach, 14 miles north of Malibu. Sarazawski is charged with slaying Mrs. Berger, who had been missing for a week.

The finding of the body completes our case against Sarazawski," said Capt. Thad Brown of the Los Angeles police, who established the identification last night, a few hours after two women saw the corpse bobbing in the surf and pulled it ashore.

UNEXPECTED VERDICT

Harrisburg, May 18.—(P)—Paul E. Sanger, Myerstown auctioneer and L. R. Bucklew, farmer of South Ansville township, Lebanon county, accused of violating OPA ceilings in sales of two tractors, won a directed verdict of acquittal in U. S. district court when the government unexpectedly rested its case shortly after the start of the trial yesterday.

DEGREE FOR ARNOLD

Waynesburg, May 18.—(P)—Gen. Henry H. Arnold, commanding general of the Army Air Forces, will receive the degree of doctor of military science in absentia at the 95th annual commencement at Waynesburg College Sunday. Press of duties will prevent Gen. Arnold's attendance at the ceremonies.

FINAL SALE NOW TO START

The Home Owners Loan Corporation, an agency of the United States Government, has determined to liquidate every property they own before June 30, 1944. They will accept as little as 10% down and the balance on a 15-year mortgage with only 4½% interest. Prices are being revised downward in a drastic manner and we can now offer some remarkable propositions on about twelve properties under our management. Give us an offer on one or all of them.

Charge Man With Attempt To Ravish Girl

Charles Bliss, 45, a Sheffield resident, is being held by police for action by the district attorney on a charge of assault with attempt to ravish. The fellow was captured on the Gladium bridge last evening by Howard Landers, John Dailey and Leo Turner and turned over to the police.

It is alleged that the fellow accosted a nine-year-old girl who had been sent to a grocery store to secure bread and on her way home he followed her and along a path leading to her home gave her 20 cents and induced her to sit down with him. Neighbors witnessed the act and summoned the child's father and the fellow left. He was followed to the Allegheny Hotel and then traced on the bridge, where he was captured.

He will be given a hearing this week and will doubtless appear in court.

The investigation and prosecution of the case are being handled by District Attorney J. H. Goldstein.

Service Held By Grangers For Deceased

Four members of Warren Grange, No. 1025, who have died within the past year—C. S. Knapp, Mrs. Richard Olson, John Abplanalp and Mrs. Alice Lowe—were honored in the annual memorial service held in conjunction with this week's regular meeting.

The memorial tribute opened with a hymn, "In the Garden," followed by a reading by Margaret Johnson, hymn, "The Lord's Prayer," sung by the First Evangelical quartet; Beryl Rhoades, Geraldine Mathis, Lorraine Harkless and Frances Peterson, accompanied by Mrs. Edwin Jack; roll call and ceremony; hymn, "Shepherd of Israel," quartet.

The regular session was opened in full form, with a song, "Twilight Is Stealing"; minutes, report of the fire solicitor; communications.

It was decided to send the lecturer, Orpha Peck, to the coming lecturer's conference at State College. Named as a refreshments committee for the next regular meeting were Mr. and Mrs. William Hoffman and Mrs. E. B. Anderson.

Following the meeting the social committee served refreshments and the remainder of the time was devoted to enjoyment of shuffleboard games.

Urge Farmers To Get Loans For Food Crop

Farmers of America are today faced with the greatest demand for food the world has ever known and sufficient production will be had only if every individual farmer does his share in producing food and vital crops. The Emergency Crop and Feed Loan Office is cooperating by financing those farmers who are eligible, thereby enabling them to meet and, if possible, surpass the food production goals.

Farmers who do not have the required security to obtain loans from local banks are eligible for crop and feed loans in amounts up to $400, depending on the acreage of crops to be produced or the number of livestock to be fed. The interest rate is 4 percent per year and loans are to be repaid in the fall from the sale of crops or livestock.

Those interested may write directly to Field Supervisor I. J. Nealon, Box 454, Butler, Pennsylvania, for information where to apply.

Pictured here is the late Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox inspecting an anchor of Buddy Poppy which was presented to him by the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States. The anchor is for use in a special Navy Memorial Day ceremony when the replica will be cast upon the waters of the Atlantic Ocean in memory of the navy's honored dead. Millions of these Buddy Poppies will be worn in lapels on VFW Poppy Day, May 20.
